The Campaign for St Andrews

University of St Andrews
Donor Roll

1 August 2024 to 31 July 2025

We would like to thank all benefactors to the University of St Andrews for their generous support in 2024-2025. The following pages list all gifts, gifts in kind, and sponsorship through the Development Office during the University's financial year ending on 31 July 2025. In addition to the donors listed we are also grateful to the many who give to the University of St Andrews anonymously.

Leadership giving is based on gifts and pledges from August 2018 and can be found on pages 2 – 5. Donors to the University of St Andrews, giving from the United Kingdom and the Rest of the World, are listed on pages 6 – 30. Donors to the University of St Andrews American Foundation, Inc. appear on pages 31 – 37. Members of, and donors to the University of St Andrews German Association are on pages 38. Donors to the University of St Andrews Hong Kong Foundation Limited appear on page 39. Legacies and members of the Chancellor's Circle are listed on pages 40 – 43. Campaign Giving on pages 44 – 45 recognises donors who have given £250,000 and above to University campaigns since August 2008.

In the centre pages you can find updates on our Campaign priorities, hear from undergraduate and postgraduate scholars, and read about cutting-edge Alzheimer's research at St Andrews, which is enabled by philanthropy.

Every effort has been made to record gifts in accordance with our donors' wishes. If we have made any mistakes, please accept our apologies and let us know so that they can be corrected.

The waves you make

The generosity of donors like you has enabled the University to advance several key priorities, from capital projects to student support and academic research.

With your support, the Making Waves Campaign reached the halfway mark in March 2026, with over £150 million raised. This is a significant achievement, and we are grateful to all of you who have contributed to this milestone, through the quiet phase since 2018 and since the public launch in September 2024.

In early 2026, the University received planning consent from Fife Council to press ahead with our two transformative capital projects: 'New College', in the very heart of St Andrews, and the Digital Nexus building. Gifts to 'New College' totalled more than £50m, and we announced the naming of the George and Wendy David Lobby.

Thanks to you, over 1,500 students have been supported by donor-funded scholarships since 2018.

In October 2025, the University appointed the inaugural Johann and Gaynor Rupert Chair in Artificial Intelligence, Professor Lars Kotthoff, thanks to generous donations from participants in the Alfred Dunhill Links Championship in honour of Johann and Gaynor Rupert. Recruitment is underway for a new donor-funded Chair for the School of Earth and Environmental Sciences.

Thank you to each and every one of you for your unwavering commitment. Together, we can drive forward the ideas, people, and innovations that will define the future of St Andrews.

The lives you shape

Two of our scholars – one undergraduate, one postgraduate – share their experiences and what studying at St Andrews means to them.

‘The financial support of my scholarship has enabled me to access incredible academic resources, participate fully in university life, and pursue experiences that would otherwise have been out of reach. Coming from the Outer Hebrides, it has quite literally opened up new corners of the world for me: intellectually, personally, and geographically.

‘From the bottom of my heart, thank you for believing in students like me. Your support doesn’t just fund education – it nurtures our potential, builds the confidence we need to become the people we want to be, and inspires brighter futures.’

Anna MacLeod

Stuart and Geraldine Mitchell Scholarship

‘I am in the process of wrapping up my PhD in Classics thanks to the generous donors to the Douglas and Gordon Bonnyman Scholarship. My research project focuses on the ways in which identity, embodiment and disability interact in the built environment of fifth and fourth century BCE Greece. I have served as a research consultant for the Wardlaw Museum’s “Rewrite the Future” exhibition, attended conferences, and was the EDI representative for postgraduate research, ensuring the student body was well represented and supported.

‘Though these past years have not been without their challenges, the fact that I have been financially secure while facing them has meant I have been able to give my full attention to my research in a way that I would not have been able to had I also been working. I am excited about finishing this project and embarking on the next chapter of my professional career.’

The ideas you ignite

The University of St Andrews has an international reputation for high-quality neuroscience research, with academics publishing in top-tier journals including Nature, Science, Cell, and Nature Neuroscience.

One early-career researcher at the University is Dr Vanya Metodieva (BSc 2016; PhD 2021), an alumna twice over, who is supported by the RS Macdonald Charitable Trust’s St Andrews Seedcorn Fund for Neuroscience. After a stint at the Scottish medical technology company Carcinotech, she has returned to St Andrews as a research fellow in the School of Physics and, in December 2025, was awarded further support for her research into early-stage Alzheimer’s disease.

‘Alzheimer’s is a global crisis, affecting over 50 million people worldwide, and we’ve known for a long time that a protein called amyloid-beta is at the heart of it. But here’s the thing: not all amyloid is the same. My work focuses on the “early-stage” aggregates, the small, toxic versions that start quiet chaos in the brain long before major symptoms appear. These proteins essentially “jam” the signals between neurons, specifically disrupting long-term potentiation, which is how our brains actually wire new memories.

‘With the help of the RS Macdonald Charitable Trust Seedcorn Fund, I’ve been using live imaging and light-based tools to observe this happening in real-time. We’ve been able to see exactly how different shapes of amyloid break neural circuits in different ways. It’s not just one blanket problem; it’s a specific mechanical failure we’re finally starting to map out.

‘I’ve also been looking at the brain’s “waste management” system. We used to think the brain was somewhat isolated, but we now know there’s a complex drainage and immune network in its outer lining. Thanks to the Seedcorn Fund, I developed a way to record how the brain tries to flush out these toxic proteins and which immune cells show up to help.

‘By looking at both the molecular “glitch” in memory and the larger system-wide failure to clear the waste, we’re getting a much clearer picture of how Alzheimer’s takes hold and more importantly, how we might actually stop it.’

The legacy you leave

A legacy gift is the ripple today that becomes a wave tomorrow

Legacies play a vital role in ensuring the long-term strength and stability of St Andrews. By remembering the University in your will, you are helping to drive progress, enable world-leading research, build for the future, support students through scholarships, and safeguard the traditions, values, and academic excellence that have defined St Andrews for over six centuries. Gifts in wills have made an invaluable contribution to the Making Waves Campaign to date, with legacies enabling us to reach the £150m halfway milestone.

Dame Anne Pringle was elected Chancellor of the University of St Andrews in February 2026 and follows the late Lord Campbell of Pittenweem in leading the Chancellor's Circle. As both Chancellor and a committed legacy pledger, Dame Anne will continue to shape, grow and inspire this special global community. You can read a letter from the Chancellor in this year's Chronicle magazine.

In it, we also share the story of Marshall Bissett (MA 1970), who describes a fascinating international career touring with the stars and explains what inspired him to leave a gift in his will to the University in support of theatre arts.

Shaping the future of St Andrews
For more information about legacy giving or to share your St Andrews story, including what inspired you to become a member of the Chancellor's Circle, please contact our Legacies Manager, Katrina Bell.
