

PhD Seminars

Seminar Schedule Semester 2 2011-2012

The seminars will be on Tuesdays from 1-2.30pm in room S4, Swallowgate

Week 2 (14th February)

Hans Lindenlaub: 'The interpretive critique of positivism and its problems'

Week 3 (21st February)

Liam O'Shea: 'Why does police reform appear to have been more successful in Georgia than in Kyrgyzstan or Russia? What implications does this have for the study and practice of security sector reform?'

Week 4 (28th February)

Nasrin Akhter: 'Hezbollah, Hamas and the Syrian uprising: A comparative approach'

Week 5 (6th March)

Simon Taylor: 'Guerrillas or Bandits: An unnecessary manichean divide?'

Week 6 (13th March)

Francisco Antonio-Alfonso: 'New cultural encounters: The end of time and distance, the remake of myth and legend in the Mexico-China relations (1972-2009)'

Week 7 (20th March)

Pinar Kadioglu: 'Reconciliation in Cyprus: Overcoming the negative stereotyping among Greek and Turkish Cypriots towards a peaceful future'

Week 8 (10th April)

Clara Eroukhanoff: 'The securitisation of Islam in the West: A critical analysis'

Week 9 (17th April)

Kathryn Smith: 'How should global governance address food security?'

Week 10 (24th April)

John-Harmen Valk: 'Critical Theory and the conceptualization of the secular and the sacred in IR'