Modules

Interdisciplinary (ID) Modules

This School contributes to an inter-disciplinary module – ID1002 Sustainability: ensuring our common future. This appears in the Interdisciplinary Section of the Catalogue (Section 21)

International Relations (IR) Modules

IR1005 Themes in Twentieth-century International Relations

- Credits: 20.0
- Semester: 1
- Prerequisites: AAAB at Higher or AAB at A level
- Description: This module takes as its starting point the current state of the world and sets out to explore how we have reached this point. To this end it focuses on some of the key developments of the twentieth century, including the growth of the nation state, and the emergence of nationalism; the evolution of the international political system from Great Power rivalry, through two world wars to the Cold War; the international economic order; the emergence of international organisations, and the collapse of the communist system in the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe.
- Class Hour: 10.00 am
- Teaching: Three lectures and one tutorial.
- Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 40%, 2 Hour Examination = 60%
- Re-Assessment: 3 Hour Examination = 100%

IR1006 Comparative Political Systems and Foreign Policy Analysis

- Credits: 20.0
- Semester: 2
- Prerequisite: IR1005 and either AAAB at Higher or AAB at A level
- Description: This module introduces students to some of the main features of political systems and seeks to link these with the making of foreign policy. In the first half of the module we analyse the different types of political systems, introduce a range of concepts such as democracy, political culture, the state and power, and outline the key institutional features of modern states. The second half of the module looks at the ways in which different states make foreign policy, the different levels of analysis open to the student of foreign policy, and make extensive use of the case studies from various regions, which might include USA, Western and Eastern Europe, the former Soviet Union and the Middle East.
- Class Hour: 10.00 am
- Teaching: Three lectures and one tutorial.
- Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 40%, 2 Hour Examination = 60%
- Re-Assessment: 3 Hour Examination = 100%
International Relations

IR2003  Power, Violence and International Relations

Credits: 20.0  Semester: 1
Prerequisites: IR1005 & IR1006

Description: The module will begin with an examination of concepts of power in contemporary International Relations theory; beginning with traditional realist understandings of power and then looking at challenges to realist understandings. It will then examine the central realist concept of the balance of power and Neo-Realist refinements of it, before moving on to discussions of the causes and character of war and conflict in contemporary world politics, both military and economic, and approaches to resolution of such conflicts. Finally it will discuss the ethics of war and violence. Two regional cases will then be considered. The module will then close by discussing some of the more important arguments about the character and shape of conflict at the close of the twentieth century and the possibilities of containing, managing and/or resolving it.

Class Hour: 4.00 pm
Teaching: Two lectures and one tutorial.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 40%, 2 Hour Examination = 60%
Re-Assessment: 3 Hour Examination = 100%

IR2004  Peace & Governance in World Politics

Credits: 20.0  Semester: 2
Prerequisites: IR1005 and IR1006 and IR2003

Description: This module offers a view of the evolution of what might be termed idealist thought about peace and governance in international relations in the modern period. The first half examines the work of a range of non-realist thinkers. The second half of the course begins with an examination of the nature and foundations of international law. It continues with the exploration of the phenomenon of globalisation, the growth of international regimes, global civil society and global governance.

Class Hour: 4.00 pm
Teaching: Two lectures and one tutorial.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 40%, 2 Hour Examination = 60%
Re-Assessment: 3 Hour Examination = 100%

The details of the Honours modules – that is 3000 and 4000 level modules – which relate to the programmes listed in this section, are available in the Honours Course Catalogue.
