Introduction

As our communications continue to grow in both pace and complexity, we need to ensure that our corporate identity is presented in a clear, controlled and consistent manner.

We are therefore providing these Corporate Identity Guidelines which include the updated design elements of the Standard University logos as well as the new Foundation logos.

These Guidelines have been produced to provide an important reference to ensure that all the key visual elements, the colour palette and typography are consistently applied across all our communication materials.

Correct usage of logos
The University of St Andrews logos are fundamental in showing, in an abbreviated form, that we are a historic but also a forward-looking university. There is a variety of designs displayed on the following pages which have been given official approval and the variety allows even more flexibility of use. It is vital however that the logos are used exactly as described (and also when downloaded from the website) to maintain a coherent and distinctive identity for the University.

Please note no other logos and branding is acceptable. Only in very exceptional cases will alternative logos and brands be considered. Approval will only be given once it has been demonstrated that a clear academic or market imperative underlines the requirement for another logo or brand.

Merchandise – we can provide specific logos for use on any type of merchandise whether clothing or large and small gift items. Please contact us with details of your requirements.

Signage – for any requests relating to new or replacement signs please email your request to Gill Marks in Estates: signage@st-andrews.ac.uk Telephone: (01334 46)3987.

Please contact us (see back cover) for all enquiries on the application of the University of St Andrews logos.

An online version of the Corporate Identity Guidelines and also information on downloading both colour and monochrome versions of the Standard and Foundations logos, are available at: www.st-andrews.ac.uk/corporateidentity
Logos – Essential Elements

The Standard logo:

The Foundation (1413) logo:

The Admissions (SFU) logo:

The Standard Vertical logo:

The Foundation (1413) Vertical logo:

All of the elements that make up the logos have been designed to work in a fixed relationship with one another to produce maximum visual impact.

None of the elements of the logos and their relationships must ever be altered or modified in any way. For example the shield must not be produced on its own without the University name unless as a watermark device or in exceptional circumstances and discussed with us in the first instance.

All the logos are shown both in colour and also monochrome. The colour versions must not be used in monochrome.

When printing the monochrome version of the logos on a dark background a white version should be used. Please request the appropriate files from printanddesign@st-andrews.ac.uk

The logos (PNG format) can be downloaded from: www.st-andrews.ac.uk/corporateidentity
If you require EPS vector files please contact printanddesign@st-andrews.ac.uk

The Standard logo is made up of two elements: the shield with the University’s name to the right.

The Standard Vertical logo is made up of two elements: the shield with the University’s name underneath.

The Foundation (1413) logo is made up of three graphic elements: the shield, the University of St Andrews name to the right and the ‘Founded 2013’ device contained within the two keylines.

The Foundation (1413) Vertical logo is made up of three graphic elements: the shield, the University of St Andrews name below and ‘Founded 2013’ below and contained within the two keylines.

The Admissions (SFU) logo is primarily (but not exclusively) for use by the Admissions Unit. It is made up of three graphic elements: the shield, the University of St Andrews name, with the ‘Scotland’s first university – 1413’ strapline below. If you require these logos please contact printanddesign@st-andrews.ac.uk

Logos – Minimum Reproduction Sizes

There is a minimum reproduction size for the logos to ensure that the University name is still legible and also that the lines do not merge in the monochrome versions.

The minimum reproduction height for the three Horizontal colour logos is 7mm.

For the Standard Vertical colour logo the minimum height is 12mm.

For the Foundation (1413) Vertical colour logo the minimum height is 18mm.

The minimum reproduction height for the three Horizontal black and white logos is 13mm.

For the Standard Vertical black and white logo the minimum height is 18mm.

For the Foundation (1413) Vertical black and white logo the minimum height is 26mm.

In particular circumstances (for example merchandise) where the monochrome logos are required below the minimum sizes or where the detail won’t hold up because of the process used, then please contact Print & Design (see back cover).
Logos – Clear Space Rules

The Foundation (1413) logo minimum clear space:

The Standard black and white logo minimum clear space:

The Vertical logo minimum clear space:

The Foundation (1413) Vertical logo minimum clear space:

There is a minimum clear space around the logos, indicated by the outer keyline boxes. No typography, illustration, photography or other graphic device must ever encroach upon this area.

For examples of the clear space rules in use please see page 6.

For Minimum Reproduction Sizes please see page 4.

Print & Design
There are four primary colours that make up the University of St Andrews corporate identity, with St Andrews Blue being the core Corporate colour. A palette of secondary colours has been selected to complement the primary colours. These will be used through our identity to add diversity and extend the scope and variety of colour and mood.

Where necessary, tints of the colours illustrated may also be used to extend the colour palette. White is also an important colour for our palette. It should be used to create space and project a clean, modern and fresh presentation for all our layouts.

Consistent and accurate reproduction of all colours is essential to maintain the high quality appearance of the identity. A printed/screen colour will vary in shade and density depending on the surface/screen to which it is to be applied. To overcome this, all colours must be matched to our approved colour swatches. Never use a previously produced item as a colour reference. The process colour breakdowns shown here are a guide only and should be visually matched to the special colour references given. The RGB colour breakdowns will vary with screen calibration.

The colours shown on this page and throughout these guidelines have not been evaluated by Pantone, Inc. for accuracy and may not match the PANTONE Colour Standard. Consult current PANTONE® Colour Publications for accurate colour or contact Print & Design (see back cover). PANTONE® is the property of Pantone, Inc.

To maintain consistency across all printed communications, two typefaces have been chosen to support our visual language.

Primary typeface – Palatino Regular, Italic, Bold and Bold Italic should mainly be used for large and small headings. The equivalent typeface on PCs is Book Antiqua.

Secondary typeface – The Myriad family of typefaces should be used for body copy and captions. This font family has a contemporary appearance and is easy to read. The range offers scope for typographic design and enables us to create a distinctive house style.

If your computer does not have these typefaces they can be downloaded from the internet. Alternatively, staff and students may use Arial instead of Myriad and Georgia instead of Palatino when creating their own documents, if not having them professionally designed or typeset. (Please contact Print & Design for help and advice regarding our professional design and layout service. T: 01334 463020 E: printanddesign@st-andrews.ac.uk)

PC typefaces – For all screen based communications such as PowerPoint, and Word templates, Palatino should be replaced with Georgia and Myriad should be replaced with Arial. Georgia and Arial are readily available on PCs and will avoid the reflow of typesetting on computers.
