MARTINMAS SEMESTER BROWN BAG SERIES
(2018-2019)

19 September  Luca Savorelli, University of St Andrews
   \hspace{1em} Introduction, new feedback sheet, and digital writing

   Vivek Prasad, University of St Andrews
   \hspace{1em} Panopto video capture system

   Luc Bridet, University of St Andrews
   \hspace{1em} Moodle data collection and student engagement

   Vibhor Saxena, University of St Andrews
   \hspace{1em} Collaborating with the Economic Policy & Research Group

17 October  Ian Crawford, University of Oxford
   \hspace{1em} Labor supply and random fields

31 October  Stephen Reicher, University of St Andrews
   \hspace{1em} What is the self of self-interest? Thoughts on Psychology, identity and Economics

14 November  Ioannis Psaradellis, University of St Andrews
   \hspace{1em} Technical Analysis and Discrete False Discovery Rate: Evidence from MSCI Indices

21 November  Matthew Polisson, University of St Andrews
   \hspace{1em} Ever since Allais (and Ellsberg)

28 November  Kemal Ozbek, University of St Andrews
   \hspace{1em} On Unique Identification of Beliefs and Tastes

05 December  Georgios Gerasimou, University of St Andrews
   \hspace{1em} Preference intensity representation and revelation
CANDLEMAS SEMESTER SCHOOL SEMINARS (2018-2019)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Speaker</th>
<th>Topic</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>27 February</td>
<td>Constantine Sorokin, University of Glasgow</td>
<td>Pure information design in classic auctions</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>24 April</td>
<td>Mauro Papi, University of Aberdeen</td>
<td>Incomplete preferences and learning over a finite choice set</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>01 May</td>
<td>Hisayuki Yoshimoto, University of Glasgow</td>
<td>Auction mechanisms and treasury revenue: evidence from the Chinese experiment</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>22 May</td>
<td>Andriy Zapechelnyuk, University of St Andrews</td>
<td>Optimal quality certification</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>29 May</td>
<td>Anton Kolotilin, University of New South Wales, Sydney</td>
<td>Persuasion meets delegation</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>