16th International Congress on Social and Environmental Accounting
Research 2004
September 2004, Dundee, Scotland

Papers and presentations

Fernando Azcarate Llanes, Universidad Pablo de Olavide: Sustainability reporting and integrated indicators

Jan Bebbington, David Collison and Rob Gray, St Andrews University: NGOs, Not-for-profit Organisations and Civil Society: Making the people accountable to capital

Jan Bebbington, St Andrews University and Ian Thomson, Strathclyde University: Research Workshop Using Mind Maps

Cornelia Beck, Northumbria University and David Campbell, Newcastle University: The information content of environmental disclosures in UK and German companies' annual reports

Ataur Belal, Aston University and Stuart Cooper, Aston University: An exploration of the absence of CSR in Bangladesh

Martin Bennett, Gloucestershire University: 'Benchmarking' in SEA teaching

David Bent, Forum for the Future: World's first monetised TBL? Negotiating the role of alcohol using stakeholder dialogue to construct financial valuations of a producer's externality and avoidance/restoration cost

David Bent, Forum for the Future: Environmental shadow accounting in the 'Greening of NERC'

David Bevan, King's College: Managerial perceptions of CSR: Instrumentalists and idealists in Utopia

Frank Birkin, Sheffield University: New essentialism and the foundations of accounting realism

Giuseppe Davide Caruso, Catania University: Network systems and environmental accounting, strategic tools + Italian local governments

Massimo Contrafatto, Milan-Bicocca University: CSR and its inner drivers: Evidence from an Italian case study

Michael Fraser, Victoria University of Wellington: Towards dialogic accounting: Exploring the potential of sustainability assessment models

Kathryn Haynes, York University: Transforming identities: Accounting professionals and the transition to motherhood

Kathryn Haynes, York University and Alan Murray, Sheffield University: A study in non-reciprocal accountability: Paradoxes in the concept and delivery of free advice for all. The case of the Citizen's Advice Bureau

Niklas Kreander, Glasgow University: Ethical investment by UK charities

Matias Laine, Tampere University: Construction of sustainable development in corporate disclosures

Reg Mathews, Charles Sturt University: Developing a matrix approach to categorise the social and environmental accounting research literature

Laurie Mook, Toronto University: Developing a social accounting framework for economically targeted investments of pension funds

Larry O'Connor, La Trobe University: The search for a link between corporate social performance and economic performance: The search for an elusive dream
Larry O'Connor, La Trobe University: Development of a new framework for interpreting CSR

David Owen, Nottingham University: Overview of the introduction of the UK’s OFR

Vinni Pietras-Jensen, Roskilde University: Theoretical explanations to non-financial accounting

Gianfranco Rusconi, University of Bergamo and Massimo Contrafatto, Milan-Bicocca University: Social Accounting In Italy: Development and Trends

Richard Slack, Northumbria University and David Campbell, Newcastle University: Philanthropy strategy and strategic philanthropy: Insights from voluntary disclosures in annual reports

Jill Solomon, Cardiff University: Corporate attitudes towards private social, ethical and environmental disclosure

Crawford Spence, St Andrews University: A Neo Gramscian Framework of Sustainability Reporting

Ian Thomson, Strathclyde University and Jan Bebbington, St Andrews University: Dialogic accounting and accountability

Jeffrey Unerman, King's College: Corporate social reporting as a risk discourse

Zarina Binti Zakaria and Norhayah Zulkifli, Malaya University: Social and environmental accounting: The perceptions of accounting educators in Malaysia