1. Introduction

This procedure provides guidance for the payment of Self Employed individuals, visiting lecturers, vocational scholarships, and University staff providing services not related to their employment and any payments that are to be processed through Accounts Payable or Salaries and that do not fall under the criteria of University staff.

It should be noted that Managers/Heads of School/Units/PI’s who are requesting University staff to provide services for the University and are not registered with HMRC as ‘self employed’ should consult the Framework team ext 1650/1670 to seek advice on the rate they wish to be applied. This process must be adhered to before the task is carried out otherwise payment cannot be guaranteed.

The following guidelines are to provide support and advice concerning the employment status of current and future workers providing services to the University and to assist Schools and Units in developing good practice and minimising the risk of contravening HMRC regulations. Therefore Schools and Units must consider this when raising any form of paperwork in regard to services provided to the University. If the fee is not submitted on the appropriate form then it will inevitably delay the payment.

Issues for Consideration

1. If HMRC become aware that the University should have paid tax and National Insurance for an individual who they would consider to be an employee but the University has treated them as self employed or not deducted the appropriate rates of tax and National Insurance the University would be liable for:

   o Any unpaid tax or NI implications it should have paid on behalf of the worker
   o Interest on the unpaid tax and NI
   o Financial penalties
2. The University may be taken to tribunal or court by an individual if they have been classed as self employed by the University and should have been treated as an employee for employment rights (such as annual leave, sick leave etc)

3. An employment contract is considered as a ‘contract of service’ in which a worker will personally provide work or services for the University. A ‘contract of services’ is when a company or a self employed individual or consultant undertakes to provide services for another organisation.

If an individual wishes to claim expenses then they must adhere to the University policy for staff which can be found at

The key tests of employment vs. self employment are

- Whether the worker is performing services as a person in business on his/her own account
- The extent to which the worker is under the direction and control of the University in the manner in which he/she works
- Whether the worker has the right to provide a substitute and if this right is limited
- The mutuality of obligation between the University and the worker in offering and accepting work
- Whether the worker or the University provides teaching materials and bears the cost of running the course
- To what extent the worker determines the course curriculum and the subject taught
- Whether the worker or the University retains the relevant property rights of the course content and associated subject matter.

Remember individuals can be self employed in all other aspects but may be classed as an employee of the University dependent on the criteria met.

The self employed/employed questionnaire can be found at the following link –
