Modules

AH5001 From the Cloister into the World
Credits: 40.0 Semester: 2
Availability: 2003-04
Programme: Optional module for all Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.
Description: This module will examine the introduction of Gothic architecture in England and analyse the stylistic changes from the twelfth century to the styles of the 1240s. These underline a shift of emphasis from the patronage of the Church to that of the Crown. The course will explore changes in patronage and artistic style, following the rebuilding of Canterbury Cathedral, and the creation of a major pilgrimage centre following the murder of Becket. It discusses the nature of the so-called “Channel style”, emphasising the links with the Continent, which were to be clearly marked in the patronage of Henry III and the rebuilding of Westminster Abbey.
Class Hour: 3.00 pm Monday, 9.00 -11.00 am Friday. One additional class, to be arranged.
Teaching: Three classes.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 100%

AH5005 Giovanni Bellini and His Age
Credits: 40.0 Semester: 1
Availability: 2004-05
Programme: Optional module for all Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.
Description: The module will study a selection of the most important works of architecture, sculpture and painting produced in Venice in the Early Renaissance period (c.1460-1500). It will include the work of the painters Giovanni and Gentile Bellini, Carpaccio, Alvise Vivarini and Cima, of the sculptors Pietro and Tullio Lombardo and Antonio Rizzo, and of the architects Pietro Lombardo and Mauro Codussi. Emphasis will be placed on the relationship of their work to the social and political background of Early Renaissance Venice, and on their contribution to artistic genres such as palaces, churches, scuole, tomb monuments, altarpieces and portraits.
Class Hour: 9.00 am and 4.00 pm Monday and either 10.00 am Monday or 10.00 am Tuesday. One additional class to be arranged.
Teaching: Four classes.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 100%
AH5008 British and American Visitors to Italy
Credits: 40.0 Semester: 2
Availability: 2004-05
Programme: Optional module for all Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.
Description: This module is concerned with the ways in which British and American travellers experienced Italy, especially Florence, during the nineteenth century, a period in which the Italian tour took on new forms and became more popular in character. In short, the Cook’s Tour replaced the Grand Tour. The approach is in part art historical and in part literary, drawing on travel books and on the writings of Ruskin, the Brownings, Mark Twain, E.M. Forster and others.
Class Hour: 4.00 - 5.00 pm Tuesday and Thursday and either 10.00 am or 11.00 am Monday. One additional class to be arranged.
Teaching: Four classes.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 100%

AH5009 The Classical Country House 1650-1750
Credits: 40.0 Semester: 1
Availability: 2003-04
Programme: Optional module for all Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.
Description: This module identifies developments in the form and function, expressed both in terms of plan and elevation, of the country house, and relates these to changes in landscape/garden design. The following themes are covered: the double pile plan; Scottish classicism; large-scale formal country house planning in England; the Palladian revival; the sources of the informal garden; William Adam as country house architect and garden designer. The course is British in scope, and particular attention will be paid to experiments in Scotland, some of which will be examined at first hand.
Class Hour: 11.00 - 1.00 pm Monday and either 4.00 pm Monday or 3.00 pm Tuesday. One additional class, to be arranged.
Teaching: Three classes.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 100%

AH5012 British Furniture 1840-1920
Credits: 40.0 Semester: 2
Availability: 2003-04
Programme: Optional module for all Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.
Description: The module begins with an introductory study of different methods of analysing furniture and from this foundation the syllabus moves from the transitional phase of furniture design at the beginning of Victoria’s reign through the Antiquarian and Gothic revivals, reforms in the vocabulary of ornament, Neoclassical and Renaissance revivals, to the Arts and Crafts movement and ‘progressive’ furniture in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. Particular issues which will be addressed include regionalism, vernacular traditions, furniture design and manufacture, furniture as art and furniture designed by architects.
Class Hour: 9.00 - 11.00 am and either 12.00 noon or 1.00 pm Thursday. One additional class, to be arranged.
Teaching: Three classes.

AH5013 Wyndham Lewis & English Art 1900-1939
Credits: 40.0   Semester: 1
Availability: 2003-04
Programme: Optional module for all Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.
Description: This module aims to examine the complex historical processes which shaped English art in the first four decades of the twentieth century. It will relate artistic change to broader social, political and cultural developments. The course will focus on the key developments in English avant-gardism in the period circa 1913, and on the emergence of a second avant-garde in the 1930s. A central figure in the course will be Wyndham Lewis whose career allows us to concentrate on important themes in critical and aesthetic theory.
Class Hour: 11.00 am - 1.00 pm Tuesday and either 11.00 am or 12.00 noon Friday. One additional class, to be arranged.
Teaching: Three classes.

AH5014 Contemporary Scottish Painting 1950-Present
Credits: 40.0   Semester: 2
Availability: 2004-05
Programme: Optional module for all Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.
Description: This module will explore subjects, issues, and themes in recent Scottish art. From an analysis of post-war abstraction, it will proceed to a close study of the renaissance of figurative painting during the 1980s. Subsequent developments in Conceptualism, in the 1990s, will be examined in depth while the whole will be set inside the critical debates of modernism and post-modernism in the contemporary period.
Class Hour: 11.00 am - 1.00 pm Tuesday and either 11.00 am or 12.00 noon Friday. One additional class, to be arranged.
Teaching: Three classes.

AH5018 Russian Modernism: Theory & Practice 1908-1916
Credits: 40.0   Semester: 2
Availability: 2003-04
Programme: Optional module for all Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School. Also optional module for Central & East European Studies Postgraduate Taught Programme.
Description: This module will focus on the formation of an innovative avant-garde in Russia in the early decades of the twentieth century, concentrating particularly on the factors which conditioned the emergence of abstraction in painting and sculpture within such movements as Neoprimitivism, Cubo-Futurism, Suprematism and Constructivism. The course will analyse individual works of art and examine relevant contemporary texts in translation, especially artists’ statements. At the same time, works and movements will be examined within the wider framework of the artistic interchange between Western ideas and native Russian sources, current literary and philosophical ideas, and the profound changes transforming Russian society.
Class Hour: 11.00 am - 1.00 pm and 2.00 pm Thursday. One additional class, to be arranged.
Teaching: Three classes.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 100%

AH5033 Cubism and its Influence 1907-1921
Credits: 40.0 Semester: 2
Availability: 2004-05
Programme: Optional module for all Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.
Description: This module will concentrate on the influence that Picasso, Braque and the Cubist School of Paris exerted on other artists. Particular attention will be paid to movements such as Futurism (Severini and Boccioni) and Purism (Ozenfant and Jeanneret) and to individuals like Mondrian and Malevich for whom Cubism acted as an impulse towards abstraction. The course will also look at the way in which sculptors like Laurens and Lipchitz translated the pictorial, two-dimensional inventions of Cubism into real materials in three dimensions.
Class Hour: 3.00-4.00 pm Thursday and either 9.00 – 11.00 am or 11.00 am – 1.00 pm Thursday. One additional class to be arranged.
Teaching: Three classes.

AH5036  The Making of Modern Sculpture 1880-1925
Credits: 40.0  Semester: 1
Availability: 2004-05
Programme: Optional module for all Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.
Description: This module begins with an examination of the sculpture of Rodin, its relationship to that of his contemporaries, and its significance for the language of modern sculpture. The course will then examine the influence of Rodin on his followers, and the reaction against his sculpture, in the work of, among others, Matisse, Brancusi, and the Cubists, and their influence on European sculpture in the second decade of the twentieth century.
Class Hour: 11.00 am - 1.00 pm Wednesday and either 11.00 am or 12.00 noon Thursday. One additional class to be arranged.
Teaching: Three classes.

AH5049  Cubism: Picasso and Braque 1907-1914
Credits: 40.0  Semester: 1
Availability: 2004-05
Programme: Optional module for all Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.
Description: This module will focus primarily on the genesis and development of Cubism between 1907 and 1914 as seen in the paintings of Picasso and Braque. Attention will also be paid to secondary Cubists like Gris, Gleizes and Metzinger, their theoretical contributions and related phenomena such as the Orphism of Delaunay and the contrast of form series of Léger. A detailed formal analysis of the most important works produced by these artists at this time will be accompanied by a thorough examination of the practical and theoretical implications of these works, their relationship to the more general philosophical, cultural and ideological context within which they were created, the critical dialogue which they generated, and the validity of terms like Analytical, Hermetic and Synthetic Cubism.
Class Hour: 3.00 – 4.00 pm and either 9.00 – 11.00 am or 11.00 am – 1.00 pm Thursday. One additional class to be arranged.
Teaching: Three classes.

AH5055  Whistler and Modernism
Credits: 40.0  Semester: 2
Availability: 2004-05
Description: The later art and career of the American artist James McNeill Whistler (1834-1903) present problems of an historical and critical nature which many art historians avoid discussing. Unconvincing attempts to identify Whistler’s art with French, English and American painting, are all symptomatic of these problems. This course examines how Whistler’s critical reputation was made during the later stages of his career, from c.1880 to his death in 1903, and questions its relationship with Modernism illustrated by the work of artists and writers in the final decades of the nineteenth century.
Class Hour: 11.00 am - 1.00 pm Wednesday and either 11.00 am or 12.00 noon Thursday. One additional class to be arranged.

Art History – 5000 Level Modules

AH5056  Whistler and Victorian Art

Credits: 40.0
Semester: 1
Availability: 2003-04
Programme: Optional module for all Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.
Description: Although the American artist James McNeill Whistler (1834-1903) trained as a painter in Paris, it was as an English artist in London that he made his career between 1859 and 1879, when his professional career was temporarily interrupted by his bankruptcy following the suit for libel which Whistler brought against the critic John Ruskin. In order to understand Whistler’s intentions his art will be examined in the context of the professional career structure of the Victorian painter, of the Royal Academy exhibition and its critics, where Whistler exhibited regularly until 1872; the commercial galleries where he also showed his work, such as The Dudley Gallery, The Society of French Artists and the Grosvenor Gallery, and his first one-man exhibition of 1874. The social and cultural background of the patrons and buyers of his art such as James Leathart and F R Leyland will also be considered; as well as the Whistler-Ruskin trial.

Class Hour: 11.00 am - 1.00 pm Wednesday and either 11.00 am or 12.00 noon Thursday. One additional class to be arranged.

AH5058  The Arts and Crafts Movement in Britain 1860-1916

Credits: 40.0
Semester: 1
Availability: 2004-05
Programme: Optional module for all Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.
Description: At the turn of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, British art and design was recognised throughout Europe as a significant force. This module looks at the development of ideas about design reform in the nineteenth century, the practice of architect designers such as C F A Voysey, C R Ashbee, M H Baillie Scott, and Ernest Gimson, and at the legacy of a movement which by 1916 was regarded as a failure.

Class Hour: 10.00 - 11.00 am Wednesday and 11.00 am – 12 noon Thursday and either 11.00 am – 12 noon Wednesday or 3.00 – 4.00 pm Thursday. One additional class to be arranged.

AH5059  Realism and Symbolism in Russian Art 1860-1910

Credits: 40.0
Semester: 2
Availability: 2004-05
Programme: Optional module for all Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.
Description: This module examines the development of Russian art from the appearance of ‘Critical Realism’ in the 1860s and its promotion by the Wandering Exhibiting Society (the ‘Wanderers’) to the beginnings of the formation of an innovative avant-garde in the late 1900s. Special emphasis is laid on the relationship of the Academy with the exponents of the new trends. Accepted interpretations will be scrutinised with the work of individuals such as Repin, Surikov, Perov, Vasnetsov, Levitan, Kramskoy, Nesterov and Vrubel being studied in relation to social and political demands, patronage, aesthetic theories and the continuing tensions between ‘native’ traditions and ‘western’ ideas.

Class Hour: 2.00 pm Monday and 9.00 am Tuesday and either 9.00 or 10.00 am Wednesday. One additional class, to be arranged.

Credits: 40.0
Semester: 2
Availability: 2003-04
Programme: Optional module for all Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.
Description: The fifteenth century in Italy was one of the high points in the history of European sculpture. This module will examine the sculpture that was produced in Italy from around 1400 until the 1480s. The aim of the module is to encourage appreciation of the innovations introduced by early Renaissance sculptors like Donatello, Ghiberti and Verrocchio and to set them within the theoretical and intellectual contexts of the time.

Credits: 40.0
Semester: 1
Availability: 2004-05
Programme: Optional module for all Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School. Also optional module for History of Photography and Postgraduate Taught Programmes.
Description: This module will examine Scottish photography between c.1860 and the contemporary period. It will be divided into three areas of study; the landscape tradition, the documentary tradition, and issues in ‘art’ photography. These themes will be studied independently, but also in relation to a number of relevant contexts. These will include; the influence of Scottish art on photography, the relationship between photography in Europe and America and photography in Scotland, the aesthetic debates surrounding the status of the photograph as art object.
Class Hour: 11.00 am - 1.00 pm Tuesday and either 11.00 am or 12.00 noon Friday. One further class to be arranged.

AH5077  Aspects of Art and Politics in the Twentieth Century

Credits: 20.0
Semester: 2
Availability: 2004-05
Programme(s): Optional Module for Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.
Description: This module will examine key moments in the intersection of art and politics in the Twentieth Century. Issues surrounding visual culture in Weimar Germany, in the USA during the 1930s, in Latin America, etc. will be explored in depth. Equally core images like Picasso’s Guernica will be the subject of rigorous analysis. The seminars will focus on primary documentation, theoretical considerations, and the study of the visual image.

AH5078  The Architectural Development of St Andrews, c. 1600-2000
Credits: 20.0  Semester: 1
Availability: 2004-05
Programme(s): Optional Module for Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.
Description: This module will examine episodes in the architectural development of St Andrews, from c. 1600 to the present day. Selected buildings and groups of buildings will be investigated, all of which will be revealed as of national and sometimes international importance. Emphasis throughout will be placed on first hand analysis, both of individual buildings and supporting documentation (i.e. correspondence, plans, photographs, as well as University and Burgh records), the latter exploiting the resources of the University Muniments Collection.
Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: One lecture and one seminar per fortnight.

AH5079  Thomas Chippendale and Scotland
Credits: 20.0  Semester: 2
Availability: 2003-04
Programme(s): Optional Module for Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.
Description: Thomas Chippendale the Elder is not known to have visited Scotland but it can be argued that his impact is more concentrated here than in any other country. This module will introduce Thomas Chippendale against the background of the eighteenth century cabinet making world, analyse the commercial enterprise that was ‘Chippendale & Rannie’ and then turn attention to the publication, promotion and influence of the Gentleman and Cabinet Makers Director in Scotland. Field visits will be made to the sites of important early commissions and documentary evidence of the firm’s activity in Scotland will be studied. The lasting influence of the designs into the 1960s will be addressed.

AH5082  The Ship
Credits: 20.0  Semester: 2
Availability: 2004-05
Programme(s): Optional Module for Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.
Description: This module investigates the subject and symbolism of the ship as it relates to art and architectural history. Discussion, potentially via e-mail, will include the ship as visual metaphor: its antique and modern political, religious, mythological and commercial iconography; its expression of 'rite', 'passage', 'power' and frailty'. Alternatively, the ship and sailor may be studied in their role in the development of styles and cultural traditions. Examples will range from seventeenth-century Dutch marine painting to Eisenstein’s film Battleship Potemkin; Egyptian burial ships; rostral columns; Baroque ship pulpits and fountains; Le Corbusier’s liner-inspired architecture; Bosch’s Ship of Fools; naval portraiture, uniforms and emblems; Klee’s, Hamilton Finlay’s, Kandinsky’s boats, submarines and celestial ships.
Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: One one-and-a-half to two hour seminar per fortnight.

AH5084  Picturing the Apocalypse

Credits: 20.0  Semester: 1
Availability: 2004-05
Programme(s): Optional Module for Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.

Description: This module will examine the issues involved in medieval apocalypse illustration. The purpose is to introduce students to the visual tradition and the factors, liturgical and political which shaped the iconography. The module will explore the relationship between the verbal text and the illustration in specific examples, using facsimiles where appropriate. Students will examine a range of media; glass, panel, textiles, fresco, in independent case-studies.

Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: Two hour seminar per fortnight.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 100%

AH5085  Art and Politics in the Trecento

Credits: 20.0  Semester: 1
Availability: 2003-04
Programme(s): Optional Module for Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.

Description: Art in Italy in the period ca. 1230-1400 was sometimes employed to promote the political agendas of the city states. The kings of Naples, oligarchies such as Florence and Siena, and despotic regimes such as those of Milan and Verona employed imagery to express their ideals and achievements and to manipulate public opinion in their favour. This module will investigate the relationship between late medieval Italian art (but mainly sculpture) and competing political ideologies. It will also explore how regimes sympathetic to the Pope or to the German emperor employed art to declare allegiance to one or other of these two ‘universal’ powers.

Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: Two hour seminar per fortnight.

AH5086  Film and Photography in Post-Revolutionary Russia

Credits: 20.0  Semester: 2
Availability: 2003-04
Programme(s): Optional Module for Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School.

Description: This module will focus on the development of experimental photography (including photomontage) and film in post-revolutionary Russia, concentrating particularly on the 1920s and early 1930s. It will look at the theory and practice of such figures as Gustav Klucis, Aleksandr Rodchenko, Dziga Vertov, Sergei Eisenstein, and Esfir Shub. The historical and ideological factors conditioning their production will be considered alongside their own theoretical statements and the aesthetic developments and debates of the period. The inter-relationships between the two media will also be considered.

Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: Two hour seminar per fortnight.

Art History – 5000 Level Modules

AH5090  Art and the Holocaust

Credits: 20.0
Semester: 1

Availability: 2003-04

Programme(s): Optional module for all Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School

Description: This module examines the relationship of art, architecture and cultural policy to the Holocaust. It will begin by a consideration of the art forms and cultural policies of the National Socialist regime in Germany and the Vichy regime in France, and their relationship to the oppression and destruction of the European Jews. The module will then consider art made in the camps and the question of testimony before going on to focus upon post-war art which negotiates the subject of the Holocaust. Through an examination of a variety of works in different mediums (film, painting, architecture, photography, installation, sculpture) as well as the role of museums and of reparative law cases concerning artworks, the module will examine contemporary debates on the representation and memorialisation of the Holocaust.

Class Hour: To be arranged.

Teaching: one seminar per week

Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 100%

AH5091  Photography and the Book

Credits: 40.0
Semester: 1

Availability: 2003-04

Programme(s): Optional module for all Art History Postgraduate Taught Programmes within the School

Description: This module will examine photographs of books, books in photographs, the photographically illustrated book, the incorporation of photographs and photographers into books, and the relationship between photographic practice and writing. It will begin by considering the functions of books in portrait and other types of photography. Next it will examine the origins and early development of the photographically illustrated book, focusing in particular upon important early works preserved in the Photography Collection of St Andrews University Library. The third segment of the module will consider ways in which authors such as E. M. Forster, Sinclair Lewis and others have employed photographs and photography as narrative and symbolic devices. Finally, the module will consider what is meant by a ‘photographic’ style of writing, as expressed famously by Christopher Isherwood: ‘I am a camera with its shutter open, quite passive, recording not thinking’.

Class Hour: 4.00 pm Tuesday and Thursday, and either 10.00 am or 11.00 am Monday. One additional class to be arranged.

Teaching: Two lectures, one seminar and one tutorial.

Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 100%
