MN5421 Managing People in Global Markets (was BS5203)
Credits: 20  Semester: 2
Anti-requisite: BS5203
Programme(s): Compulsory module for International Business Taught Postgraduate Programme
Description: The module focuses on the management of human resources in global markets and will help participants understand the problems of managing people in an international/multinational context. One of the most important trends in the development of modern economies is the increased globalization of business. Notwithstanding its economic and social impact, however, globalization is having a significant impact on how we manage people, not only in multinational enterprises but in our indigenous companies as, increasingly, we borrow ideas on “best practice” from overseas. Such efforts at globalization, whilst generally successful in bringing economic success, have been fraught with problems, which are often the consequence of ethnocentric management teams and their attempts to export US-style “best practice” human resource management to other countries. Thus, it is critically important for globalizing firms to make sensible and contextually-sensitive decisions in key areas of human resource management, which take into account institutional, cultural and psychological differences between parent company institutions, values and practices, those of host countries and those of third country nationals employed to work in global organizations. These decisions usually concern such areas as how people are organized, recruited, selected, deployed, developed, motivated, compensated and how their performance is managed. They also focus on whether or not global organizations employ uniform human resource practices in their various locations throughout the world. Ultimately, effective international human resource management (IHRM) rests on a thorough understanding of the problems of managing people from different backgrounds and this module attempts to explore such problems in-depth and help students apply their understanding to practical managerial situations.
Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: Lectures and seminars.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 2 Hour Examination = 50%

MN5423 Global Business Strategy (was BS5205)
Credits: 20  Semester: 1
Anti-requisite: BS5205
Programme(s): Compulsory module for International Business and International Business & Strategy Taught Postgraduate Programmes.
Description: International business strategy is a broad but at the same time synthetic discipline which comprises elements of the international political economy, financial aspects and strategic planning and implementation. This module draws these elements together in the context of the international business environment and seeks to define optimal paths to competitive advantage within this complex and fast-changing business context. The module introduces a wide variety of themes, explanations and interpretations that characterise strategic management. The module will challenge students to consider strategic problems in a rigorous manner and a suitable balance between strategic planning and strategy implementation is maintained.
Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: Lectures and seminars.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 2 Hour Examination = 50%
MN5424 Corporate Finance and Accounting in a Global Context

Credits: 20
Semester: 1
Anti-requisite: BS5204, MN5422

Programme(s): Compulsory module for International Business, Management and Management (HRM) Taught Postgraduate Programmes.

Description: The module will introduce students to the basic principles and practices of accounting and corporate finance. The first half of the module will concentrate on teaching students financial accounting and reporting via the accounting equation method; this will enable students to become familiar with accounting techniques and develop an understanding of financial statements and methods employed in their creation. The second half of the module will introduce corporate finance concepts such as capital structure, the CAPM, and investment appraisal techniques. The module will employ case studies to highlight to students how these principles are employed within industry; the case studies will be based in an international setting.

Class Hour: To be arranged.

Teaching: Lectures and seminars.

Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 2 Hour Examination = 50%

MN5441 Financial Accounting Information and Analysis (was BS5310)

Credits: 20
Semester: 1
Availability: Not available 2010-11

Anti-requisite: BS5310

Programme(s): Optional module for Finance and Management Taught Postgraduate Programmes.

Description: This module is designed to provide the basic level of familiarity with accounting and finance that all managers need. The module will emphasise the construction and interpretation of the cash flow statement, the profit and loss account and the balance sheet. It will provide a brief insight into the provision of accounting information for management and will provide a brief introduction to the financing of business and corporate interactions with financial markets in advanced capitalism. The module will conclude by examining the analysis of publicly available corporate financial information and the strengths and limitations of the information for understanding corporate performance.

Class Hour: To be arranged.

MN5442 Corporate Financial Management (was BS5311)

Credits: 20
Semester: 1
Anti-requisite: BS5311

Programme(s): Compulsory module for Finance and Management Taught Postgraduate Programme.

Description: Financial decisions are made at all levels of management and thus are at the very heart of all organisations. Managers have broadly three major responsibilities in the financial domain which include investment decisions, financing decisions and managing financial risks. Sound financial decisions can help ensure the survival of organisations in an uncertain global environment. Broadly, this module will deal with the first two tasks. The aim of this module is to provide an introduction to modern theories of financial management and to show how to apply the theory to realistic financial decision problems.

Class Hour: To be arranged.

Teaching: Lectures and seminars.

Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, Two Hour Examination = 50%
MN5443 Research Methods in Finance and Management (was BS5315)

Credits: 20  Semester: 2
Anti-requisite: BS5315
Programme(s): Compulsory module for Finance and Management Taught Postgraduate Programme.

Description: The aim of this module is to provide students with an understanding of issues involved in the design of research projects within a finance and management discipline. This module aims to use recent seminal published work in selected areas of finance and management to examine issues of research design and methodology and, in doing so, aims to help students develop a critical perspective on research development and its contribution to the practice of finance and management. In particular, the module will cover areas such as identifying research areas, writing a literature review, identifying appropriate research techniques as well as the more technical aspects of quantitative research.

Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: Lectures and seminars.

MN5444 Strategic Financial Management (was BS5316)

Credits: 20  Semester: 2
Anti-requisite: BS5316
Programme(s): Compulsory module for Finance and Management Taught Postgraduate Programme.

Description: The aim of this module is to equip students with the capability of being able to manage complex strategic and financial related situations. This module will apply important analytical tools for making sound decisions in the areas of mergers and acquisitions, valuation and corporate restructuring. Overall, this module will utilize the significant linkages between these areas, as well as between financial strategy and overall strategy management, to help strengthen their firm's competitive advantage. An understanding of strategic management and corporate financial techniques is essential to assessing and developing an organisation's strategy to ensure they are matching the company's strategic advantages to the business environment in which they operate and the module seeks to address this requirement.

Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: Lectures and seminars.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, Two Hour Examination = 50%

MN5480 Human Resource Development

Credits: 20
Prerequisite: MN5470 or equivalent
Programme(s): Compulsory module for Management (HRM) Taught Postgraduate Programme.
Optional module for M.Res. in Management Studies, and all other Management Taught Postgraduate Programmes except Managing in the Creative Industries.

Description: The changing nature of organisations, work and employment places an emphasis on the need for continuous learning and development of people associated with the organisation (both employees and others). For individuals human resource development (HRD) activities enhance employability, human capital and career management. For the organisation, performance management and improvement are underpinned by processes that promote individual and organisational learning. Informed by this 'mutual' approach to the need for, and potential benefits of, HRD in the organisation, the module will explore the context, content, processes, outputs and outcomes of learning and development activities within the organisation and the need for these to reflect an integrated and strategic approach.

Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: Lectures and practicals
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 2 Hour Examination = 50%

MN5491 Understanding the Creative Industries

Credits: 20
Semester: 1
Programme(s): Compulsory module for Managing in the Creative Industries Taught Postgraduate Programme.

Description: This module gives students an introduction to the teaching and learning philosophy behind the programme and the theoretical framework that will be presented in order to understand the nature of the creative industries. It then introduces the creative industries, their positioning within the economy and some of the challenges posed by their organization and management. It considers why creative industries feature as part of national economic strategies at this particular point in time; the extent to which creative industries pose managerial and organizational issues distinct from other industries; and some of the challenges facing creative industries given changing economic, social and technological contexts.

MN5496 Valuing and Evaluation

Credits: 20  Semester: 2
Programme(s): Compulsory module for Managing in the Creative Industries Taught Postgraduate Programme.

Description: This module considers how value is ascribed to functions and activities within the creative industries. It does so firmly by examining understandings of economic value in accounting and financial management, including budgeting and cash flow, through which financial value is ascribed to business activity. It then broadens consideration of value with an examination of the policy contexts within which creative industries function and how considerations of value are ascribed to their functioning including such issues as heritage and cultural appreciation, and economic impact.

MN5498 Group Dissertation (was BS5198)

Credits: 60
Semester: 2
Anti-requisite: BS5198, BS5199, MN5499
Prerequisites: An average of at least 13.5 in the preceding semester 1 and semester 2 core and option modules (to a total of 120 credits)
Programme(s): Either MN5498 or MN5499 is a Compulsory module for M.Litt. in Finance and Management, International Business, Management, Management (HRM) and Marketing
Description: This module provides students with the opportunity to undertake an in-depth investigation into issues within the field of business and finance. They are required to prepare a 15,000 word (approximately) report dissertation detailing justified conclusions and recommendations. This is a core element of the M.Litt. and is only available to students who achieve an average assessment grade of 13.5 or above in their GPA for the 6 preceding taught modules in semesters 1 and 2 (to a total of 120 credits) core and option modules. Training in methodology will be provided to students in semesters 1 and 2 as preparation for the dissertation. Supervision of the dissertation is also provided. Each group will comprise up to 6 students. The group dissertation will comprise 70% of the assessment; the remaining 30% will be awarded for an individual report and log book. The individual report should either critically reflect upon working in a multi-cultural project team or on a specific topic related to the group project in both cases the exact topic for the individual report will require supervisor approval.
Class Hour: Workshops to be arranged.
Teaching: 4 one hour lectures and 4 two hour workshops. Students will then be given 6 hours of supervision.
Assessment: 15,000 word group dissertation report = 70%, 3,000 word individual report = 30%

MN5501 Scenario Thinking and Strategy
Credits: 20  Semester: 1
Programme(s): Compulsory module for International Business & Strategy Taught Postgraduate Programme.
Optional module for all other Taught Postgraduate Programmes in the School, except Managing in the Creative Industries.
Description: The structure of environments facing organisations or nations can lie on a scale where the ends represent the static and simple interplay of variables or their dynamic and complex counterparts. The former can best be understood by formal and systematic analysis where the use of quantitative forecasting techniques is especially useful. The latter, which represents the structure of many global sector and market environments, is best analysed using softer, qualitative techniques. Of these, scenario thinking has gained significant ground since its commercial birth in the 1960s. It involves the careful building of stories about how potential futures might evolve. This module will develop understanding of the complexity of environments through the use of scenarios and demonstrate the use of scenarios in public policy and strategy development. The methodologies are many and require multi-disciplinary input ranging from history, social anthropology, ethics, political economy, meteorology, global affairs amongst others.
Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: One lecture, one seminar.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 2 Hour Examination = 50%

MN5509 Public Relations
Credits: 20  Semester: Either
Programme(s): Optional module for M.Res. in Management Studies, and all other Postgraduate Taught Programmes in the School except Managing in the Creative Industries.
Description: Public relations, or PR, is a term used to describe a wide variety of techniques designed to improve communications between an organisation and its various stakeholders or publics. These publics may include employees, investors, customers and the wider community in which an organisation operates. From a marketing perspective, PR is an important part of the communications mix. Businesses are increasingly integrating PR with advertising, sales promotion, personal selling and/or electronic communications to improve the effectiveness of marketing communications. Because PR tends to utilise non-paid channels of communication, such as the news media, it is an increasingly tempting way for small businesses, non-profit organisations, advocacy groups and individuals such as politicians who have limited budgets to communicate with their stakeholders. However, PR is not without its critics. It is difficult to control how corporate messages may be interpreted and disseminated by the news media. Some organisations or individuals may be tempted to twist the facts to give only one side of a story or issue or to try to put the questionable activities in a positive light. In these cases PR may be dismissed as “spin”. As a result, ethical issues are an important focus of public relations research, education and practice. This module will examine both ethical and managerial issues and will aim to improve students’ public relations skills.
Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: One lecture, one seminar.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 2 Hour Examination = 50%
MN5510 Entrepreneurs and Entrepreneurship

Credits: 20
Semester: Either
Programme(s): Optional module for M.Res. in Management Studies, and all other Postgraduate Taught Programmes in the School except Managing in the Creative Industries.

Description: The module will provide an insight into the nature and identity of entrepreneurship by critically analyzing the way entrepreneurial activity creates economic wealth/social value; and will impart an understanding of individual entrepreneurship, corporate entrepreneurship and social entrepreneurship. This module is based on case studies of some well known entrepreneurs and entrepreneurial organizations - firms such as Apple, Nokia and Google; and entrepreneurs such as Andrew Carnegie, Souter/Gloag, Taddy Blecher and Steve Jobs. It will consider the corporate culture and organization of entrepreneurial firms and enable students to consider what it would be like to work for such firms.

Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: One lecture, two seminars
Assessment: Continuous Assessment (individual essay = 25%, group project = 25%) = 50%, 2 Hour Examination = 50%

MN5511 Leadership in Organisations

Credits: 20
Semester: Either
Programme(s): Optional module for M.Res. in Management Studies, and all other Postgraduate Taught Programmes in the School except Managing in the Creative Industries.

Description: This module will examine how views of leadership have changed since the Industrial Revolution, from mechanistic, behavioural models of behaviour to modern leadership frameworks which facilitate change in ever dynamic national, international and cultural climates. Emphasis will be on how theoretical models relate to real life scenarios, how leaders are selected and how leadership is assessed. Content combines conceptual knowledge, behavioural guidelines and other information demonstrated by examples and case studies, experiential exercises and feedback on skill utilisation and performance. Lectures and seminars will combine a variety of educational approaches, from interactive discussions to action learning, with a focus on students' own individual leadership development.

Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: One lecture, one seminar, one practical class
Assessment: Continuous Assessment (individual essay = 30%, group assignment = 20%) = 50%, 2 Hour Examination = 50%

MN5512 International Business

Credits: 20
Semester: 2
Programme(s): Optional module for M.Res. in Management Studies, and all other Postgraduate Taught Programmes in the School except Managing in the Creative Industries.

Description: This module examines various dimensions of international business environment, including cultural, institutional and economic environments and government policy, and their impacts on the strategic decision of international companies on whether and how to break into different foreign markets. This module also discusses the operations of international business such as country selection, the strategy and structure of international business. The design of the module aims to cover a broad range of international business issues without forsaking depth. Various learning methods are used in the module, including in-class lectures, discussion of focused topics and case analysis.

MN5554 Marketing and Society (was BS5121)
Credits: 20  Semester: Either
Antirequisites: BS5121, BS5132, MN5558
Programme(s): Optional module for M.Res. in Management Studies, and all other Taught Postgraduate Programmes in the School except Managing in the Creative Industries.
Description: This module examines the effects of marketing on societies. The powerful social and cultural influence of marketing has been widely recognised. Through branding and communication marketing shapes consumption, identity and relationships. Our appearance, ideas and behaviour are influenced by marketing in ways more subtle and pervasive than we might think. What we eat, drink and wear; where we live and how we travel; our work and leisure; even the most intimate details of our lives respond to the powers of marketing. The future of marketing is challenged by the negative connotations of globalisation. Actions by certain firms have caused strong reactions to negative effects on workers, consumers and environments, such that a plethora of anti-corporate protest movements has been mobilised in recent decades.
Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: Lectures and seminars.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 100%

MN5555 Business Marketing (was BS5124)
Credits: 20  Semester: Either
Anti-requisite: BS5125
Programme(s): Optional module for M.Res. in Management Studies, and all other Taught Postgraduate Programmes in the School except Managing in the Creative Industries.
Description: Industrial or business-to-business marketing (B2B) is concerned with the marketing of goods and services to commercial enterprises, institutions, governments, or other organizations. As such it differs considerably from most marketing courses that focus on the marketing of goods to final consumers (i.e., business-to-consumer marketing or B2C). B2B marketing deals with individuals and groups that represent organizations, some of whom may be larger and more powerful than the firm selling to them. In addition, these individuals often are trained specifically as professional buyers or have significant product knowledge. Finally, B2B markets are subject to derived demand that is frequently volatile in nature.
This module will focus on a wide range of issues including supply chain management, organizational buying behaviour, buyer-seller relationships, relationship marketing, partnering and strategic alliances, as well as the traditional 4 Ps.
Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: Lectures and seminars.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 2 Hour Examination = 50%

MN5556 Consumption, Markets and Culture (was BS5130)
Credits: 20  Semester: Either
Anti-requisite: BS5130
Programme(s): Optional module for M.Res. in Management Studies, and all other Taught Postgraduate Programmes in the School except Managing in the Creative Industries.
Description: The module charts the historical development of consumer societies and explores the benefits, problems and challenges which these present for policy makers and for consumers. The module aims to be theoretically challenging in stimulating discussion about topics such as the changing perceptions of space and time; power; exchange needs and values; semiotics and consumer identity from different theoretical perspectives.
Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: Lectures and seminars.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 2 Hour Examination = 50%
MN5599 Retailing Corporate Strategy

Credits: 20
Programme(s): Optional module for M.Res. in Management Studies, and all other Taught Postgraduate Programmes in the School except Managing in the Creative Industries.

Description: This module is designed to provide students with a critical understanding of the application of the key concepts of corporate strategy to the competitive requirements of individual retailing organizations. Students will be introduced to the particular competitive characteristics of the retailing environment and individual retail organizations. This will be followed by a background to the key concepts of corporate strategy and strategic decision making. The main part of the module is devoted to the application of the concepts of corporate strategy to the competitive requirements of individual retail organisations. This will centre on the analysis of retailer competitive environments and the comparative assessment of retailer resources. Particular features of retailer strategy, including market positioning strategies, will be considered, as well as strategies of retailer produce and geographical diversification and the role of acquisitions and mergers.

MN5602 Markets, Society and the Environment (was BS5320)

Credits: 20
Programme(s): Optional module for M.Res. in Management Studies, and all other Postgraduate Taught Programmes in the School except Managing in the Creative Industries.

Description: In the last ten years one of the most significant global trends has been a growing concern over globalisation and the increasing awareness of environmental change and anxiety and how this will affect society. The role of financial markets in these trends and how such developments will affect the operation of organisations (including public, private and third sector organisations in a wide variety of industries) come to the fore in this context. This module focuses on how such changes are likely to be experienced by the financial markets and by organisations influenced by those various markets. As an illustration, the module will include an examination of: (a) the market for funds (i.e. the capital market), (b) the market for regulation (especially the taxation system) and (c) the market for funds internally within the organisation (in the form of capital budgeting and project appraisal).

Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: Lectures and seminars.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 2 Hour Examination = 50%
MN5603 Responsibility, Sustainability and Accountability in Organisations
Credits: 20 Semester: Either
Anti-requisite: BS5321
Programme(s): Optional module for M.Res. in Management Studies, and all other Postgraduate Taught Programmes in the School except Managing in the Creative Industries.
Description: The module provides an introduction to and analysis of sustainability and corporate social responsibility, the meaning, tensions and conflicts that these concepts entail and the role that accountability can play in their achievement. The module will examine the theory and practice of social, environmental and sustainability accountability and explore and assess current experience. The module will critically but practically examine the claims made by international business in this field and explore the practical and political constraints on the organization as it seeks to address responsibility, sustainability and accountability.
Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: Lectures and seminars.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 2 Hour Examination = 50%

MN5604 Financial Systems
Credits: 20 Semester: Either
Anti-requisite: BS5330
Programme(s): Optional module for M.Res. in Management Studies, and all other Postgraduate Taught Programmes in the School except Managing in the Creative Industries.
Description: Financial systems around the world are currently undergoing many changes. These changes arise from competition, consolidation, information technology, product and geographic expansion of manufacturing, service and financial services firms, de-regulation and re-regulation. These changes are taking place within a volatile and uncertain economic environment, and have direct implications for the development, growth and stability of financial systems. This module aims to outline the fundamentals of financial systems. A central theme running through the module is the influence of technology and innovation along with the challenges that this poses to regulators.
Class Hour: To be arranged.

MN5607 International Financial Management (was BS5335)
Credits: 20 Semester: Either
Anti-requisite: BS5335
Programme(s): Optional module for M.Res. in Management Studies, and all other Postgraduate Taught Programmes in the School except Managing in the Creative Industries.
Description: From daily financial management to long term strategic decision making, a full understanding of international finance is essential for all business managers. This module begins with the international monetary frameworks and the conduct of monetary policies in major developed economies. An essential feature of international finance is the crucial role of foreign exchange rate when cross-border transactions and capital flows occur. The determination and forecast of exchange rates and their interdependence with interest rates is discussed, together with the international money and capital markets and capital flows. Recent decades saw an explosion of new derivative products to hedge risks and an understanding of basic derivatives such as options and future/forward is required of the modern business manager.
Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: Lectures and seminars.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, Two Hour Examination = 50%
MN5608 Risk Management (was BS5336)
Credits: 20
Semester: Either
Anti-requisite: BS5336
Programme(s): Optional module for M.Res. in Management Studies, and all other Taught Postgraduate Programmes in the School except Managing in the Creative Industries.
Description: The last two decades have witnessed a spectacular change and growth in financial markets (equity markets, foreign exchange markets, euromarkets and international bond markets). This has brought a new breed of investors that see the role of managers as enhancing their shareholder value and protecting their wealth from potential risk. One of the challenging tasks of managers in recent years has been to manage the exposure to risks that arises from corporate decisions. The 1980s witnessed a resurgence of mergers, acquisitions and take-overs. This brought about new ways of financing such activities with project evaluation, funding and hedging have to be considered together. The principal aim of this module is to provide an introduction to managing the exposure to risk and to apply relevant theories to realistic financial decision problems. This module will also deal with assessing and measuring non-financial risks and their importance in the decision making processes within the firm.
Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: Lectures and tutorials.

MN5841 Capital, Democracy and Sustainability

Credits: 20  Semester: 1

Programme(s): Compulsory module for M.Litt. in Corporate Social Responsibility
Optional module for M.Res. in Management Studies, and all other Taught Postgraduate Programmes in the School except Managing in the Creative Industries.

Description: This module will explore the global expansion of capitalism with particular emphasis placed upon its social and environmental consequences. Key concerns of the module are the compatibility of capitalism with environmental sustainability and the way in which the development of capital markets come to shape national and international socio-political structures. In order to explore these concerns, the module will look at the emergence of supranational financial institutions such as the World Bank and International Monetary fund; the globalisation of capital markets; the emergence of international regulatory regimes and the role of business therein. A substantial section of the module will also be devoted to consideration of civil society's response to capital's global expansion and the way in which grass roots political actors have organised themselves on a global scale. The module thus adopts a simultaneous micro/macro lens, looking at how the micro world of specific business initiatives and single-issue campaigns are influence by, and themselves influence, the macro world of global governance arrangements and economic factors.

Class Hour: To be arranged.

Teaching: Two hour lectures.

MN5842 Management as if the Earth Mattered

Credits: 20  Semester: Either

Programme(s): Optional module for M.Res. in Management Studies, and all other Taught Postgraduate Programmes in the School except Managing in the Creative Industries.

Description: This module will provide students with the opportunity to explore key aspects of how business can operate in harmony with the environment and help effect sustainable solutions rather than be a cause of unsustainability. In a practical sense, the module seeks to understand how organisational Environmental Management Systems both contribute to sustainability and construct barriers to it. Topics will include conventional solutions offered by the environmental literature, such as; natural capitalism, dematerialisation and industrial ecology. Building upon this: strategy as ethos, systems thinking, Gaia theory, ecological economics (key tenets), green marketing principles and socio-organisational aspects of green pioneers will be explored. Lastly, key lessons from leading edge environmental companies and associated visiting speakers will be presented. This module will challenge students' conventional notions of business as well as providing some nascent answers/solutions for how organisations can begin to work in harmony with the environment.

Class Hour: To be arranged.

Teaching: Two hour lectures

Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 2 Hour Examination = 50%
MN5901 Skills in Leadership

Credits: 20
Semester: Either

Programme(s): This module is only available to students enrolled at XM Services/Michelin Dundee.

Description: The module reviews the place of leadership within the overall role of the manager and considers the key skills needed to demonstrate effective leadership of people. Various theories of leadership (trait, behavioural, contingency, attribution, charismatic) are introduced and their implications for the manager analysed. Skills underpinning effective leadership are considered including motivation, communication, goal-setting and the concept of 'followership' explored. The module introduces the Hersey-Blanchard (1982) 'situational leadership model' and an analysis of its key components are valuable for the line manager.
