AH3087  Aspects of Surrealism
Credits: 30.0  Semester: 1
Availability: 2005-06
Description: The module will present a survey of Surrealist visual art (c 1918-1939) and will consider key figures in the movement: the writers André Breton and Georges Bataille; the painters and sculptors André Masson, Joan Miró, Pablo Picasso, Salvador Dali, and Max Ernst; and the photographers André Boiffard, Brassai and Man Ray. In artistic terms, Surrealism defined itself through attempts to question and exceed traditional models of representation, a problem which individual artists sought to address in painting as well as by exploring a range of alternative media and techniques such as collage, photography, film, and ‘objects’. The module will explicitly draw attention to connections between Surrealism and those concepts which structure the broader history of twentieth-century art: avant-gardism, modernism, challenges to the traditional notion of art as mimesis, calls for an anti-art and an anti-aesthetic, inter-relationship between the visual and the verbal, the link between aesthetic, sexual and political revolution.

AH4126 Whistler and Modernism

Credits: 30.0
Semester: 2

Availability: 2004-05

Description: The later art and career of the American artist James McNeill Whistler (1834-1903) present problems of an historical and critical nature which many art historians avoid discussing. Unconvincing attempts to identify Whistler’s art with French, English and American painting, are all symptomatic of these problems. This course examines how Whistler’s critical reputation was made during the later stages of his career, from c.1880 to his death in 1903, and questions its relationship with Modernism illustrated by the work of artists and writers in the final decades of the nineteenth century.

AH4127  Whistler and Victorian Art
Credits:  30.0  Semester:  1
Availability:  2005-06
Anti-requisite:  AH3056
Description:  Although the American artist James McNeill Whistler (1834-1903) trained as a painter in Paris, it was as an English artist in London that he made his career between 1859 and 1879, when his professional career was temporarily interrupted by his bankruptcy following the suit for libel which Whistler brought against the critic John Ruskin. In order to understand Whistler's intentions his art will be examined in the context of the professional career structure of the Victorian painter, of the Royal Academy exhibition and its critics, where Whistler exhibited regularly until 1872; the commercial galleries where he also showed his work, such as the Dudley Gallery, the Society of French Artists and the Grosvenor Gallery, and his first one-man exhibition of 1874. The social and cultural background of the patrons and buyers of his art such as James Leathart and F R Leyland will also be considered; as well as the Whistler-Ruskin trial.
