The structure of the module is both chronological and thematic, addressing issues such as gender, class, religion, and nation in relation to Victorian poetry. Throughout, the module uses the background of visual art – including poetry book illustration, Victorian paintings based on subjects from Victorian poetry, and artworks commemorated in Victorian poems – to highlight issues regarding poetry’s status, aims, and appearance in the period. Looking at the art of poetry in relation to visual art, it asks how Victorian poetry aligns itself with broader aesthetic debates about form, function, and representation.

EN4009 Renaissance Sexualities: Rhetoric and the Body 1580-1660

This module will examine the representation of sexuality and gender in poems, prose and drama by men and women in the period 1580 – 1660, focusing on such issues as the transvestite stage, the rhetorical concept of ‘manly’ style, interpretations of Genesis, the ideology of friendship and transformations in the traditions of love poetry.

EN4217 Arthurian Legend and Middle English Romance
Credits: 30.0 Semester: 2
Availability: 2006-07 (not available 2005-6)
Anti-requisite: EN3017
Description: This module aims to provide the student with a comprehensive and sophisticated understanding of the development of mediaeval romance in Britain, and the role of Arthurian legend in creating and sustaining this popular and flexible genre. The module begins by tracing the evolving literary figure of Arthur, whose development parallels that of the romance genre itself. The major themes, issues, and narrative forms of the genre are then explored through a range of Arthurian and non-Arthurian texts. The contemporary audience for, and patronage of, the mediaeval romances will be examined partly through issues raised in the texts themselves, such as social class and gender (from the beginning, women played a large role in both the audience and patronage of romances), and partly through direct consideration of their textual transmission and manuscript background. Who wrote these texts? Who read them? How and where, in an age before printing, were they circulated and publicised? And finally, what was (and is) their enduring appeal?
