Film Studies (FM) Modules

FM1001 Key Concepts in Film Studies

Credits: 20.0 Semester: 1

Description: In this introductory module, we examine key concepts and approaches that are relevant to the study of film. Basic concepts such as genre, auteur, narrative, stardom and acting, spectatorship, and audiences will be considered. We will also explore film form, montage, mise-en-scene and the development of the film industry. We shall begin to examine non-traditional films and filmmaking such as the avant-garde, and art cinema and introduce students to notions such as art cinemas, national cinemas and world cinemas. The module includes screenings of important cinematic texts.

Class Hour: 3.00 pm Monday and Thursday, 7.00 – 10.00 pm Tuesday (screening)
Teaching: Two lectures and a screening weekly, plus occasional seminars.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment: Essay = 40%, Quiz = 10%, 2 Hour Examination = 50%
Re-Assessment: 100% - at discretion of Board of Examiners.

FM1002 Film History and Historiography

Credits: 20.0 Semester: 2
Prerequisite: FM1001

Description: This module introduces key movements and moments in film history, including: early cinema, German Expressionism, Soviet montage, Surrealism, Classical Hollywood, Italian neo-realism, cinema direct and vérité, la nouvelle vague, and classical Japanese cinema. Consideration will be given to the development of international film industries and movements. We will also examine the process of writing and researching film history and the status of film as an historical artefact. What kinds of cultural, social and/or political knowledge can we discern from films of the past? How do the choices we make as to what to deem relevant and irrelevant information in regard to film history affect the way in which the cinematic past is understood?

Class Hour: 3.00 pm Monday and Thursday, 7.00 – 10.00 pm Tuesday (screening)
Teaching: Two lectures and a screening weekly, plus occasional seminars.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment: Essay = 40%, Quiz = 10%, 2 Hour Examination = 50%
Re-Assessment: 100% - at discretion of Board of Examiners.
FM2001 Modern World Cinemas
Credits: 20.0 Semester: 1
Prerequisite: FM1001

The exploration of the history of cinematic art is contextualized in a way that provides adequate understanding of the forces that shape its profoundly transnational production and distribution. The module aims to provide a proper understanding of the complex topo-temporal dynamics of world cinema in the global context.
Class Hour: 3.00 pm Tuesday and Friday, Wednesday evening (screening)
Teaching: Two lectures and a screening weekly, plus occasional seminars.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment: Essay = 50%, 2 Hour Examination = 50%

FM2002 Film Culture, Theory, Entertainment
Credits: 20.0 Semester: 2
Prerequisite: FM2001
Description: This module introduces a range of approaches to cinema, their relationship to culture and the politics of entertainment. The changing historical attitudes towards cinema are examined against the background of influential popular cinematic texts. The first group of lectures examines the early answers to the question “what is cinema?” and investigates those attempts at theorizing cinema that preceded the emergence of film studies as a canonized subject. In the second part of the module, the focus is on the consolidation of the field in the 1970s, revealing how newly emerged cultural concerns and issues of class, race, gender, and nationality influenced the new interpretation of cinema. The module concludes by examining how “Screen theory” both rejuvenated the field and necessitated its future rethinking.
Class Hour: 3.00 pm Tuesday and Friday, Wednesday evening (screening)
Teaching: Two lectures and a screening weekly, plus occasional seminars.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment: Essay = 50%, 2 Hour Examination = 50%
Re-Assessment: 100% - at discretion of Board of Examiners.
