Students still completing degree programmes as defined in previous Course Catalogues should discuss their module selections with their Honours Adviser(s).

Modules

Normally the prerequisite for each of the following Honours modules is entry to the Honours Programme(s) for which they are specified, as well as any additional specific prerequisite(s) given.

General degree students wishing to enter 3000-level modules and non-graduating students wishing to enter 3000-level or 4000-level modules must consult with the relevant Honours Adviser within the School before making their selection.

Ancient History (AN) Modules

AN3020 Principles & Techniques in Archaeology

Credits: 30
Semester: 1

Prerequisite: Entry to Honours Archaeology and Ancient History or Honours Mediaeval History and Archaeology, or Honours Divinity or Honours Biblical Studies

Description: This module, which draws on archaeological material from around the world, is divided into two sections. The first is a series of seminars and lectures on the central practical concerns of archaeology: the way in which the type of excavation affects the resulting evidence; methods of studying sites and artefacts; how to publish archaeological material, and the importance of conservation. This will give a general grounding to enable students to understand archaeological reports, and to apply this understanding to other parts of the Honours degree. The second part will address the important contribution of theoretical archaeology to the discipline, while also elucidating the practical applications and relevance of theory.

Class Hour: 2.00 - 4.00 pm Thursday.

Teaching: Lectures and seminars.

Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%

AN4110 The Culture of Roman Imperialism

Credits: 30
Semester: 2

Availability: 2011-12

Description: What imperial powers think they are doing and what they claim to do are issues that deserve just as much scrutiny as their conduct in practice. This module explores how the Roman elite conceived their imperial project - how they explained and justified Rome's conquest of the Mediterranean world and how they thought Roman power should be used. It also asks how literary and visual culture were complicit in legitimising and promoting the imperial project. Key topics include cosmocracy, peace and pacification, the civilising mission, ethnography and the idea of the barbarian. Discussion will proceed through close analysis of a wide range of texts and images.

Class Hour: 9.00 - 11.00 am Friday

Teaching: 1 seminar.

Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 60%, 2-hour Examination = 40%
AN4117 Art of the Roman Empire

Credits: 30  Semester: 1
Availability: 2011-12
Description: This module will examine the art of Italy and the provinces of the Roman Empire between the last century BC and the fourth century AD. It will include consideration of monumental art and also private art in a variety of media such as sculpture, wall paintings and mosaics. The module will look at issues such as the employment of art by the state, at the domestic contexts of art, and the artistic treatment of themes such as myth, historical events, death and sexuality. Special attention will be given to particularly rich case studies including Pompeii, Dura-Europos and Roman Britain.

Class Hour: 9.00 - 11.00 am Thursday
Teaching: Lectures and seminars.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%

AN4118 Julius Caesar

Credits: 30  Semester: 2
Availability: 2011-12
Description: We will examine the life and achievements of Julius Caesar as politician, general and author. Was Caesar a visionary who perceived the corruption of the Republic or a power-hungry autocrat? Was his conquest of Gaul and act of statesmanship or an immoral war? Through our analysis of Caesar's life, we will also study historical problems and issues concerning the last century of the Roman Republic. Particular emphasis will be placed on developing and analyzing historical arguments based on ancient evidence (in translation). To this end, we will read ancient sources, including Caesar's own writings, in parallel with modern scholarship.

Class Hour: 9.00 - 11.00 am Thursday.
Teaching: Lectures and seminars.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50% (2 x 2,500-3,000-word Essays = 20% each, Assessed Presentation = 10%), 24-hour 3,500-word Take-home Examination = 50%

AN4121 The Ancient City of Rome

Credits: 30  Semester: 2
Availability: 2012-13
Description: This module examines the history and archaeology of the city of Rome from its earliest beginnings to the 5th century AD. Several themes are pursued through, in particular the view of Rome as a centre of power and patronage, the capital of empire and residence of kings and emperors. Rome’s physical development, the problems of feeding and administering such an immense ancient city, the architectural and artistic implications of rulers’ aspirations, and the urban religions are all explored.

Class Hour: To be arranged
Teaching: Lectures and seminars.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%
AN4127 In the Footsteps of the Ancients: Exploring the Archaeology & Topography of Greece

Credits: 30  Semester: 2
Availability: 2012-13

Description: Through on-site teaching in Greece and home lectures, this course studies how and why Greek secular and religious sites developed where they did, what their different functions may have been (in relation to architecture/topography), how these changed over time, and what important interactions existed within and between secular and religious sites. On-site teaching will also allow treatment of the nature of site-excavation and its impact on interpretation, as well as development of students’ own interpretations and illustration of contemporary topics such as the values of restoration, conservation and presentation of archaeology. The module will provide a broad yet detailed examination of Greek society and culture from Prehistoric to modern times. There will be 11 days of visits to sites and museums in Athens, Attica, Central Greece and the Peloponnese; these include the Athenian Acropolis and Agora, Delphi, Ossios Loukas, Mycenae, Sparta, Mistras, and Olympia.

Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: 1 lecture and 1 seminar.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%

AN4130 The Roman Army

Credits: 30  Semester: 1
Availability: 2012-13

Description: This module will present material for the history and archaeology of the Roman army from the Early Republic through to the Late Empire. Students will study a series of themes, including institutional development, expansion and defence of the Roman empire, the army and political culture, the army in battle, soldiers within Roman society, the archaeology of self-identity, and the Roman military economy. Source material will include historical and epigraphic texts, archaeological sites and finds, and Roman iconography. The Roman army was the first truly ‘professional’ standing army in European history. It permeated Roman economy and society, and has subsequently fascinated historians, soldiers, political scientists and artists up to the present.

Class Hour: To be arranged
Teaching: Lectures and seminars.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%

AN4136 Alexander the Great

Credits: 30  Semester: 1
Availability: 2011-12

Description: Alexander the Great’s life and career have exercised an enormous influence - both on the subsequent history of the Hellenistic and Roman worlds, and on the later imagination of artists and writers. This module will ask how much we can really know of Alexander’s aims and career, through detailed examination both of the sources for his life and their literary and historiographical models. Topics will include: the origins of ruler cult, Alexander’s army and the battles of his campaign, his alleged attempt to fuse east and west and other ‘last plans’. The module will look, finally, at some of the modern representations of Alexander - in scholarship, film and literature.

Class Hour: 2.00 - 4.00 pm Tuesday.
Teaching: 1 x 2-hour seminar.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%
AN4145 The Archaeology of Roman Britain

Credits: 30  Semester: 2
Availability: 2011-12
Description: This module will explore the Roman period in Britain through the archaeological record of towns, landscapes, military installations, cults, artworks and artifacts, combined with literary texts and sub-literary sources. Emphasis will be placed on Britain's relative place within a wider Mediterranean empire, and within an Iron Age nor European world. Topics studied will embrace the period from first Roman contacts during the 1st century BCE through the weakening of central government in the 5th Century CE. The geographical scope includes the whole of these islands, including Ireland.
Class Hour: 2.00 to 4.00 pm Thursday.
Teaching: Lectures and seminars.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%

AN4146 The Supremacy of Greece: Athens & Sparta 479 - 362 BCE

Credits: 30  Semester: 1
Availability: 2012-13
Description: Between 479 and 362 BCE Athens, Sparta and later Thebes and Thessaly contested the rule of Greece through imperial expansion and ideological dominance, leading to both constant warfare as the states struggled for power, and huge progress in philosophy and the arts brought about by the force of competition. This module studies the fifth- and fourth-century empires of Athens and Sparta and their effects on the Greek world at large. The period is exceptionally rich in sources - the histories of Thucydides and Xenophon, Athenian tragedy and comedy, inscriptions, coinage and art - and the module uses these to investigate themes such as political development and dissent, the relations between Greeks and outsiders, and the expression of ideological dominance.
Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: 1 x 2-hour seminar.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%

AN4147 Government & Society under Diocletian

Credits: 30  Semester: 2
Availability: 2011-12
Description: This module considers aspects of constitutional and social history in a key period of Classical Antiquity - after the chaotic decades of the mid-third century and before the adoption of Christianity. The timescale is deliberately narrow (c.30 years) to enable detailed appreciation of the most important developments and issues. The variety of source material is wide (literary, archaeological, art-historical, legal, numismatic and documentary); this will consolidate established interpretative skills and introduce some less familiar disciplines. Students will be encouraged to marshal this range of evidence in identifying the balance between continuity and change under one of the Roman Empire's greatest leaders.
Class Hour: 9.00 - 11.00 am Wednesday.
Teaching: 2 hours.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%
AN4149 The Archaeology of Minoan Crete

Credits: 30
Semester: 1
Availability: 2011-12
Description: This module examines the archaeology of Minoan Crete from its beginnings to the crisis at the end of the Late Minoan I B period and rise of the Myceneans (around 3000-1000 BCE). The approach to the study of this prehistoric culture will be through a range of resources, primarily their artefacts and architecture such as frescos, pottery and religious paraphernalia as well as palatial structures, villas and tombs. Different methodologies will be called upon to reveal aspects of Minoan society such as the organisation of the Minoan states and palaces, religion and art, trade and administration and relations between Crete and neighbouring regions such as Mainland Greece and the Cyclades. Key sites include Knossos, Phaestos, Mallia, Gournia, Myrtos, Armeni, Mycenae and Thera.
Class Hour: 9.00 - 11.00 am Wednesday
Teaching: 2 hours.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 65%, 2-hour Examination = 35%

Classical Studies (CL) Modules

CL4418 Eating & Drinking in the Roman World

Credits: 30
Semester: 1
Availability: 2011-12
Description: This module will examine practices of eating and drinking within the Roman World, with special reference to their social significance and literary representation. The module will deal with both Greek and Roman elite banqueting, and with public feasting in the Greek and Roman cities of the Roman Empire, focusing especially on the ways in which distinctive forms of eating and drinking contributed to the self-definition of communities. It will also deal with questions of famine and food supply within the ancient world, with special reference to non-elite eating and drinking. The second half of the module will then draw on that context in looking at representations of eating and drinking in a wide range of literature, both Greek and Latin (including philosophical, satirical, medical and historical writing); and in examining the development of distinctive Christian practices and representations of shared eating and drinking. All of this material will be set against the backdrop of earlier traditions (especially within Classical and Hellenistic Greek society and literature).
Class Hour: 2.00 - 4.00 pm Friday.
Teaching: 1 x 2-hour session.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%

CL4419 Magic in Greco-Roman Literature & Life

Credits: 30
Semester: 1
Availability: 2011-12
Description: This module examines magic and related phenomena in the Greco-Roman world. Attention will be paid both to the fascination with magic in literature and to magical beliefs and practices in real life, not just practices to which the ancient writers themselves apply the word 'magic' or similar terms, but also features of conventional religion, public and private, that some modern scholars have regarded as magical. This will require examination of the problems of defining magic, sorcery, witchcraft, and the like, and of distinguishing them from religion. Students will study - in English translation - both literary texts (from Homer to Apuleius and beyond) and documentary and archaeological evidence (including magical papyri and curse tablets).
Class Hour: 9.00 - 11.00 am Friday.
Teaching: 1 seminar.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%
CL4420 Fame, Tradition & Narrative: Homer’s Iliad

Credits: 30
Semester: 2
Availability: 2012-13
Description: This module will give students the opportunity to study Homer's celebrated martial epic, the Iliad, in translation and in detail. It will consider the relevant social and cultural-historical questions which are prompted by this tale of heroic savagery and suffering: why might archaic Greeks have needed an epic like this? Why is the Homeric conception of the heroic so fraught with conflict and so obsessed with honour, memory and power? The module will also analyze and interpret the epic's rich poetic texture and 'oral-derived' style (formulae, similes, type-scenes…); it will explore the character of it heroes and their relationship with divinity. For all its depictions of battle and slaughter the Iliad is a poem about language as much as action and participants will consider the complex rhetoric of heroes who fight with words as well as swords. Finally, the module will ask how and why famous artists and poets of the modern era have returned to the Iliad’s ideas and imagery. The module could be usefully combined with CL4416 Responses to War: Civic Drama and Athenian Culture.

Class Hour: To be arranged.

Teaching: 1 seminar and occasional lectures.

Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%

CL4421 The Ancient & Modern Novel

Credits: 30
Semester: 1
Availability: 2012-13
Description: The formation of the modern novel has a long (and still often unacknowledged) tradition of ancient novel-writing lying behind it. This module examines the seven surviving Greek and Latin novels of the Roman period (and their many fragmentary counterparts), with their brilliant and challenging stories of sex, magic, adventure, passion and everyday life. It looks at the emergence of the genre against the background of earlier literature, and views the novels within their social and cultural contexts. It also analyses the reception of ancient novel traditions within a wide range of post-classical contexts up to the present day (focusing mainly on modern novels, but also on film); and asks how they relate to novel-writing in the modern world.

Class Hour: To be arranged.

Teaching: 1 x 2-hour seminar.

CL4424 Classical Temple to Christian Basilica: Development of Religious Architecture in Greece

Credits: 30
Semester: 1
Availability: 2012-13
Description: This module takes a broad approach to the study of Greece from the Classical to Early Christian periods. Within a historical framework it aims to illustrate how religious architecture (temples, sanctuaries, basilicas and monasteries) can be used to study key changes in Greek society and politics. The module will examine religious architecture and interior decoration and then apply an architectural study of its function to discover more about the nature of the liturgy and the people involved in it. Using historical sources in combination with the study of particular sites such as Athens, Delphi, Corinth and Sparta the following themes will be a focus: Architecture as propaganda, effects of Hellenic expansion, Romanization and Christianization.

Class Hour: To be arranged.

Teaching: 1 x 2-hour seminar.

Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%
CL4429 Death & Dying in Ancient Greece
Credits: 30  Semester: 2
Availability: 2011-12
Description: Two things are said to be inevitable in life: death and taxes. This module will look at the former in the context of the ancient world, an environment in which, for all the cultural achievements for which Greece and Rome are celebrated, mortality rates were, by modern standards, shockingly high. A variety of materials and approaches will be used to look at perceptions, representations and realities of death and dying in antiquity. What constitutes a heroic death, a philosophical death, a pitiable death or an untimely death? How do the varieties of deaths relate to the values of the society at large? What responses to death did the ancient Greeks devise? Was it possible to survive death, and if so, in what form? The focus will fall primarily on Greece, but Roman material will be introduced where it is appropriate, as will comparative material from other societies around the world.
Class Hour: 2.00 - 4.00 pm Friday.
Teaching: 1 x 2-hour seminar.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%

CL4432 Latin Literature & Roman Emperors
Credits: 30  Semester: 2
Availability: 2012-13
Description: This module will explore the relationship between Latin literature and the Roman Principate from the late 30s BCE to the end of the first century CE. It will examine the impact which different emperors may have had upon literary production during that period, and also the ways in which different authors not only reacted to but also shaped wider responses to individual emperors and to the Principate more generally. The module will focus on three key periods of the early Principate (the 'Augustan Age', Nero's reign, and the transition from Domitian to Nerva and Trajan - with glances at Tiberius too) via four core texts (Virgil, Aeneid VI; Seneca, De Clementia; Tacitus Annals IV; and Pliny, Panegyricus 1-95), but it will also take in a range of other texts along the way. Students will thus be able to compare a variety of authors and genres, and detect patterns and developments in literary reactions to different emperors. This module aims to give students a fresh perspective on Rome's early Principate, and also to tackle some big literary issues: for example, what kind of impact can poetry or plays actually have on politics? Were authors during the Principate ever free to write what they really thought? And what roles did/does the reader play in the dialogue between authors and their rulers?
Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: 1 x 2-hour seminar.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%

CL4433 Religions of the Greeks
Credits: 30  Semester: 1
Availability: 2012-13
Description: This module will examine the range of religious practice and experience in Greece primarily between ca 500 and ca 300 BCE. The civic and political roles of religion will be considered, from local heroes to panhellenic festivals, as will the role of religion in the home and in the life-cycle of the individual. Divination and healing-cults will also be discussed. Attention will be paid throughout to questions of method and interpretation, with regard both to the handling of ancient evidence and to the relative merits and demerits of the competing modern approaches. The overall aim is to attempt to understand a key element of ancient Greek mentality.
Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: 1 x 2-hour seminar.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%
CL4435 Greek Theatre

Credits: 30
Semester: 2
Availability: 2011-12
Anti-requisite: CL4416
Description: The extensive and elaborate funding and organization that lay behind Athens' theatrical festivals can tell us a lot about Athenian society. Material and textual evidence for the theatres' layout, stage conventions and framing ceremonies are crucial for the interpretation of Greek drama. This module will combine study of the Greek theatre's physical, ideological, religious and economic status with close reading of selected plays to address fundamental questions: why were tragedy, comedy, satyr plays and dithyrambs staged under the auspices of Dionysus? Was Greek theatre specifically 'democratic' or more generally 'civic' in terms of its character, organization and sociology? How and why did Greek drama change and spread beyond Athens' borders? Did these dramatic genres speak to Athenians' own lives or take them to different realms though its myths and fantasies?

Class Hour: 11.00 am - 1.00 pm Wednesday.
Teaching: 1 x 2-hour seminar.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%

CL4438 Animals in Greco-Roman Antiquity

Credits: 30
Semester: 2
Availability: 2011-12
Anti-requisite: CL4416
Description: From horses and dogs to crocodiles and rhinoceroses, and from oxen and ferrets to unicorns and giant ants, this module examines human relationships with animals in ancient Greece and Rome. Animals have played essential roles in human societies for all of recorded history, and today form a living link with the classical past. Using literary, artistic and archaeological evidence the module will trace the significance of animals in classical life, as sources of food, labour, companionship and entertainment, and as objects of ritual, scientific experiment and conspicuous consumption. Students will examine the conceptualisation of the animal (as 'wild', as 'pet', or as 'exotic', for instance), and will consider the philosophical debates surrounding animals in antiquity and their symbolic meanings in ancient societies.

Class Hour: 2.00 - 4.00 pm Tuesday.
Teaching: 1 x 2-hour seminar.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%

CL4439 Ancient Travel & Exploration

Credits: 30
Semester: 1
Availability: 2011-12
Anti-requisite: CL4416
Description: This module will examine the social, economic and cultural aspects of ancient travel and exploration, from classical Greece to the later Roman empire. Topics include Greek travellers in Egypt and the Middle East, Phoenician and Greek explorers in the Atlantic, Roman military explorations, ancient tourism, Pagan and Christian pilgrimage, and exotic travel literature. Attention will be paid to the critical reading of ancient travel literature and works of geography, as well as to the physical reality of ancient travel.

Class Hour: 9.00 - 11.00 am Tuesday.
Teaching: 1 lecture and 1 seminar.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 60% (Research learning diary = 30%, 2,500 - 3,000 word essay = 30%), 2-hour Examination = 40%
CL4442 Greek Painted Pottery
Credits: 30  Semester: 2
Availability: 2012-13
Description: Greek Painted Pottery offers students the chance to study the ceramic art of Greece, and to examine modern interpretations of this material. The first four seminars provide a survey of the major styles of painted pottery in Greece, primarily in Athens, and their development from Geometric to the late red-figure period (750 - 300 BCE). This includes the history of the scholarship of Greek potter, and study of the main themes depicted in the iconography. In the second part of the module student apply this basic knowledge to explore the differing modern approaches to pottery (art historical, archaeological, structuralist), and the debates between their practitioners. Case studies of particular themes are used to demonstrate the assumptions that underlie scholars’ use of the evidence of pottery, and to suggest ways in which the images and their context can usefully comment on Greek society.
Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: 1 x 2-hour seminar.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%

CL4444 Pleasure, Goodness & Happiness: Hellenistic Ethics
Credits: 30  Semester: 2
Availability: 2011-12
Description: This module will explore the ethical thought of the Hellenistic period, a key phase in the development of Graeco-Roman culture. We shall examine some of the most sophisticated and influential moral theories of antiquity, principally those of the Epicureans, Stoics and sceptics. The core text will be Cicero's On Moral Ends. The module will include the following topics: the nature and value of pleasure; friendship and society; the fear of death; virtue and vice; happiness; human development; moral psychology; life without beliefs. All primary texts will be available in English translation.
Class Hour: 4.00 - 5.00 pm Tuesday and Thursday.
Teaching: Two seminars.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%

CL4445 Women in Ancient Societies
Credits: 30  Semester: 1
Availability: 2011-12
Description: This module studies women and gender in Greek cities, including Athens in the fifth century BCE, and in the Roman Republic and Empire from different perspectives. It will consider representations of women, for example, Homer and Virgil; the Greek tragedians; epigraphy and burial monuments; legal and forensic evidence; and medical treatises. It will look at women in the context of ancient families and city communities, marriage, children, ritual and religion and the existence or otherwise of outlets for 'individual' fulfilment.
Class Hour: 11.00 am - 1.00 pm Tuesday.
Teaching: 1 x 2-hour seminar.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%

CL4446 Picture this: Ecphrasis in Classical Poetry
Credits: 30  Semester: 2
Availability: 2012-13
Description: This module will consider the development of classical ecphrasis (literary description of works of art) from Homer through to Late Antiquity. Through a series of Greek and Latin texts in translation, consideration will be given to questions of genre, narratology and literary history. Authors will include epic poets such as Homer, Apollonius, Vergil and Quintus Smyrnaeus, and others such as Hesiod, Aeschylus, Catullus and Ausonius. There will be opportunity both for close literary criticism and for broader analysis of the relationship between classical art and literature; where appropriate, visual material will feature in the module.
Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: 1 x 2-hour seminar.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%
CL4449 After Virgil: The Aeneid & its Reception
Credits: 30 Semester: 1
Availability: 2012-13
Description: This module will explore, through close reading and comparative study, what made Virgil the 'Classic of all Europe' in Augustan Rome itself and in the two thousand years following the publication of the Aeneid. Focussing on particular 'hot spots' of Virgilian appropriation - the epics of Dante and Milton, the Early modern drama of Marlow, and selected poetry and prose of the twentieth century - this module will examine not just what makes the Aeneid susceptible to such a remarkable reception-history, but also what the theory and study of 'reception' can offer to a discipline of Classics and our own understanding an criticism of the ancient world.
Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: 1 x 2-hour seminar.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%

CL4452 Knowledge & the World in Hellenistic Philosophy
Credits: 30 Semester: 2
Availability: 2012-13
Description: This module will examine theories of knowledge and the natural world in Hellenistic philosophy. Is knowledge of the world possible? If so, how is it attained? What is the world - and what are we - made of, and has it - and have we - been made by intelligent design? Does the correct account of the world undermine the belief in human responsibility? The module will include the following topics: skepticism; perception; scientific method; cosmology; God; soul; fate, free will and responsibility.
Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: 2 hours.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 2-hour Examination = 50%

CL4453 Greek & Roman Science
Credits: 30 Semester: 1
Availability: 2012-13
Description: Was ancient science really science? When did ideas we take for granted, such as the sphericity of the earth, become generally accepted? When did the divide between scientific and non-scientific modes of thought, or between 'science' and 'humanities', become current? This module will attempt to answer these and other questions, by looking in detail at some of the key sources in Greek and Roman 'scientific' writing. The chronological ambit of the module will stretch from the pre-socratic philosophers in Greece, up to the Renaissance reception of the ancient ideas and techniques.
Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: 2 hours.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%

CL4996 Dissertation (Non-Graduating)
Credits: 60 Semester: Either or Both
Anti-requisite: CL4997
Description: This module is for incoming Exchange and non-graduating students who spend all or part of their time in St Andrews working on dissertations which they will submit in their home university. Such students will receive supervision during their time in St Andrews and may be required to submit samples of written work for informal assessment, but there is no formal assessment in St Andrews.
Assessment: No formal assessment.
CL4997 Dissertation (Non-Graduating)
Credits: 30  Semester: Either
Anti-requisite: CL4996
Description: This module is for incoming Exchange and non-graduating students who spend all or part of their time in St Andrews working on dissertations which they will submit in their home university. Such students will receive supervision during their time in St Andrews and may be required to submit samples of written work for informal assessment, but there is no formal assessment in St Andrews.

CL4998 Dissertation (Long) in Classical Studies
Credits: 60  Semester: Either or Both
Anti-requisites: CL4999, CL4997, CL4996, LT4999, GK4999, GK4998
Description: This module is available only to students who take it while studying at another university on an approved exchange programme. It provides the opportunity for students to carry out a sustained piece of work on a topic essentially of their own choice, with supervision by a member of staff. The dissertation may relate to any aspect of the classical world, but the topic must be approved by the Head of School. The dissertation will either be completed within one semester or spread over two semesters. The maximum length is 15,000 words, exclusive of quoted materials, appendices and bibliography, or 20,000 including them. Dissertations must be submitted no later than the last day of revision week for the semester.
Assessment: Dissertation = 100%

CL4999 Dissertation (Short) in Ancient History, Ancient History & Archaeology, or Classical Studies
Credits: 30  Semester: Either
Availability: Available only to students in the second year of the Honours Programme.
Anti-requisite: CL4998, CL4997, CL4996, LT4999, GK4999, GK4998
Description: This module provides the opportunity for students to carry out a sustained piece of work on a topic essentially of their own choice, with supervision by a member of staff. The dissertation may relate to any aspect of the classical world, including ancient history, and/or ancient archaeology, but the topic must be approved by the Head of School. The dissertation will be completed within one semester, and the maximum length is 7,500 words, exclusive of quoted material, appendices and bibliography, or 10,000 words including them. Dissertations must be submitted no later than the last day of revision week for the semester.

Greek (GK) Modules
GK3021 Greek for Honours Classics 1: Special Option
Credits: 30  Semester: 1
Prerequisites: Pass at grade 11 or better in GK1002 and in LT2004
Anti-requisite: GK2003
Description: This module is for students who, having taken Latin in both of their first two years, but only begun Greek in their second year with GK1001 and GK 1002, are entering Honours Classics in their third year. It consists of 4000-level analysis and essay work together with consolidation of the student's prior knowledge of the Greek language, practice in translation skills, and training in techniques of literary analysis. The module will concentrate on the study of narrative poetry (e.g. Homer) and prose dialogue (e.g. Lucian) and will aim to foster an awareness of the interrelationships between later and earlier periods of Greek.
Class Hour: 10.00 - 11.00 am 3 days a week (Tues - Fri).
Teaching: 3 or 4 classes.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 60%, 2-hour Examination = 40%
GK3022 Greek for Honours Classics 2: Special Option

Credits: 30
Semester: 2

Prerequisites: Pass at grade 11 or better in GK1002 and permission to take Honours in Classics

Anti-requisite: GK2004

Description: This module is for students who, having taken Latin in both of their first two years, but only begun Greek in their second year with GK1001 and GK1002, are entering Honours Classics in their third year. It consists of 4000-level analysis and essay work together with consolidation of the student's prior knowledge of the Greek language, practice in translation skills, and training in techniques of literary analysis. The module will concentrate on the study of pastoral poetry (e.g. Theocritus) and erotic fiction (e.g. Longus) and aims to foster an awareness of the ways in which Greek poetry and prose can share language, strategy and themes. It will focus particularly on the Greek literary inheritance and manipulation of bucolic commonplaces and discourses of desire.

Class Hour: 10.00 - 11.00 am 3 days a week (Tues - Fri).

Teaching: 3 or 4 classes.

Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 2-hour Examination = 50%

GK4100 Greek Prose Composition

Credits: 30
Semester: 1

Availability: 2011-12

Description: This module will deal with the different ways in which students may make use of their knowledge of Greek in order to produce both translations from English texts into grammatically correct Greek and also free compositions directly in Greek. This will involve a more active process of language learning than is required for translation from Greek into English, though it will also have benefits for the reading of original texts. The content of the module will deal with all syntactical aspects of the Greek language that need special study for effective translation into Greek: particles, participles, the treatment of abstract nouns, equivalence between English and Greek idioms, etc.

Class Hour: 12.00 noon - 1.00 pm Thursday and Friday.

Teaching: 2 seminars.

Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 60%, 2-hour Examination = 40%

GK4102 Greek Tragedy

Credits: 30
Semester: 1

Availability: 2011-12

Anti-requisite: CL4416

Description: This module increases the student's familiarity with Greek tragedy. Plays of Aeschylus, Sophocles and Euripides are prescribed for detailed study, and students learn to address questions of content, context and staging in prepared texts, to translate passages from unprepared texts, and to address wider dramatic and generic issues.

Class Hour: 2.00 - 3.00 pm Tuesday, 3.00 - 4.00 pm Thursday

Teaching: 1 seminar and 1 tutorial/lecture.

Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%

GK4105 Greek Rhetoric & its Representation

Credits: 30
Semester: 1

Availability: 2012-13

Description: This module gives students the opportunity to translate and perform detailed critical analysis of Greek prose texts of the classical period which are concerned with the nature, development and representation of rhetoric and sophistry. It also requires students to address broader questions concerning Athenian culture's social, moral and political response to the development of an 'art' of persuasion.

Class Hour: To be arranged.

Teaching: 1 seminar and 1 tutorial/lecture.

Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%
GK4109 Greek Literature in the Roman Empire

Credits: 30  Semester: 2
Availability: 2011-12

Description: The first to third centuries AD was one of the most fertile periods of Greek literary production (and has been an exciting growth area of recent scholarship). This module samples a range of genres, paying particular attention to detailed appreciation of specific works: the speeches and novelistic dialogues of the controversial and colourful orator/philosopher Dio Chrysostom; the irreverent satirical and comical writing of Lucian; and the works of Philostratus, who offers us such a vivid portrait of his own contemporary culture through his biographical writing. It also addresses a range of broader questions: how far are these texts influenced by their social and political context, especially by the continuing Roman rule over the Greek east? What relation do they have with classical literary traditions which they draw on and transform in such original ways? And how are we to account for the extraordinary denigration of this period's literature within so much of the scholarship of the nineteenth and early-twentieth centuries?

Class Hour: 12.00 noon Tuesday and Thursday
Teaching: 2 hours
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%

GK4113 Greeks & Barbarians

Credits: 30  Semester: 2
Availability: 2012-13

Description: Exploring Greek identity through representation of non-Greeks was a prominent feature of Greek literature and culture across many centuries. This module examines that theme in a range of authors and periods. It looks first at archaic epic, especially Homer's Odyssey. The central part of the course then focuses on classical Athens, especially Euripides and Aristophanes, as well as a selection of extracts from prose texts (Herodotus is an important reference point, but will not be studied at length as a set text, having been covered at GK 1000-level). The final part of the course then looks ahead, more briefly, to the Hellenistic and Roman worlds, with extracts from the description of India in Philostratus' Life of Apollonius of Tyana.

Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: 2 hours.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%

GK4114 Hesiod & the Near East

Credits: 30  Semester: 1
Availability: 2012-13

Description: Cosmological upheavals, successional conflicts, sexual tensions and divine displacements are among the ingredients which make Hesiod's Theogony such a dynamic and fascinating text to read. The module is structured around close reading of Hesiod's Theogony, working in depth on the literary effects and thematic structures of the text. In addition, it takes a wide-ranging look at some of the contexts of the Theogony, covering, amongst others, Hesiod's Works and Days, Homer's Iliad, Aeschylus' Prometheus Bound, Heraclitus and Empedocles. It also covers a range of Near Eastern texts (in translation), including the Epic of Gilgamesh, discussing to what extent the Theogony was influenced by Babylonian creation mythologies.

Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: 2 seminars.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%
GK4116 Greeks on Education

Credits: 30
Semester: 2
Availability: 2012-13

Description: The debate about education in one of the most exciting periods of ancient Athenian history. Can education make you a better person? Could education make you a worse person? What form should a good education take? We shall consider how different Athenian intellectuals conceived of the challenge posed by sophistry, how they tried to distance their own teaching from sophistry, and how they looked within and beyond Athenian culture for models of good (and bad) education. We shall also examine their discussions of whether education can deliver the advantages promised by some educators and their different conceptions of the connection between education and political leadership.

Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: 2 hours.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%

GK4117 Lies, History & Ideology in Athenian Literature & Thought

Credits: 30
Semester: 2
Availability: 2011-12

Description: We shall examine stories about the Athenian past, particularly the myth of 'autochthony', according to which the Athenians' native land gave birth to their ancestors. We shall consider the role played by these stories in shaping Athenian civic identity; our focus will be on the sophisticated exploration of and response to these stories in Athenian literature, rhetoric and philosophy. An important theme discussed by these texts is the political expediency of telling falsehoods about the past. The set texts will be Euripides' Ion, selected parts of Isocrates' political writing, Plato's Menexenus and selected parts of Plato’s Republic.

Class Hour: 9.00 am Tuesday and 11.00 am - 12.00 noon Thursday.
Teaching: 2 x 1-hour seminars.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 50%, 3-hour Examination = 50%

LT4201 Roman Epic
Credits: 30
Semester: 1
Availability: 2012-13
Description: Selected portions from three Latin epics are studied in this module. Topics covered will include the influence of Greek epic upon the Latin writers, and the development of epic in the century after Virgil. Close attention will be paid to each poet's handling of themes and narrative structure, to his exploitation of the tradition, and to his style.
Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: 2 meetings per week.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 60%, 2-hour Examination = 40%
LT4203 Latin Prose Composition

Credits: 30  Semester: 2
Availability: 2012-13
Prerequisites: LT2001 & LT2002, or LT2003 & LT2004, or LT3017 & LT3018
Description: This module will deal with the different ways in which students may make use of their knowledge of Latin in order to produce both translations from English texts into grammatically correct Latin and also free compositions directly in Latin. This will involve a more active process of language learning than is required for translation from Latin into English, though it will also have benefits for the reading of original texts. The content of the module will deal with all aspects of the Latin language that need special study for effective translation into Latin: particles, participles, the treatment of abstract nouns, equivalence between English and Latin idioms, etc.
Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: 2 meetings per week.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 60%, 2-hour Examination = 40%

LT4208 Late Latin

Credits: 30  Semester: 2
Availability: 2011-12
Description: This module aims to give an introduction to some of the most important Latin texts from the Late Roman Empire in the West. Selected literary works, of a variety of genres, will be read in Latin, along with a wider corpus read in translation.
Class Hour: 10.00 - 11.00 am Tuesday and Thursday.
Teaching: 2 hour seminars.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 60%, 2-hour Examination = 40%

LT4209 Latin Historical Writing

Credits: 30  Semester: 2
Availability: 2012-13
Anti-requisite: CL4405
Description: This module studies the origins and development of Roman historical writing from the beginnings to the early second century AD. Selected works of Roman historians, and writings about historiography, will be read in Latin. The sources of Roman knowledge of the past, and the influence of Greek historical writing, will be studied, as well as the development of the Roman historiographical tradition, and the styles and techniques of individual writers.
Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: 2 meetings per week, lectures or seminars.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 60%, 2-hour Examination = 40%

LT4210 Latin Didactic Poetry

Credits: 30  Semester: 1
Availability: 2011-12
Description: This module examines the development of one of the major genres of Classical Latin poetry during the late Republic and early Empire, with due consideration of the Hellenistic and archaic Greek background. Three books will be studied with particular attention to their literary form and background, to the didactic poet's message, and to his self-presentation as an authority and teacher.
Class Hour: 11.00 am - 1.00 pm Wednesday.
Teaching: 2 hours per week.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 60%, 2-hour Examination = 40%
LT4211 Latin Letters
Credits: 30  Semester: 2
Availability: 2011-12
Description: This module studies the genre of epistolography through the selected letters of the three Latin writers Cicero, Seneca and Pliny. The aims, methods, style and subject matter of each writer will be studied and compared, as will their different personal, political and cultural backgrounds. Letters from other authors and periods will be used for comparative purposes.
Class Hour: 11.00 am - 12.00 noon Wednesday and Friday.
Teaching: 2 meetings per week.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 60%, 2-hour Examination = 40%

LT4213 Roman Satire
Credits: 30  Semester: 1
Availability: 2011-12
Description: This module explores the emergence and evolution of Roman Satire. Its core texts are selected Satires by Horace, Persius and Juvenal, but it also examines the beginnings of Roman Satire in the second century BCE, and takes in other, later Roman satirists along the way. Close reading of the primary texts forms a key component of the module, but we also home in on some of the recurring themes of Roman satire so that students can compare the approaches of different authors and analyse the development of the genre over time. Broader issues are also tackled, such as the purpose of satire (was it always moralistic?) and the relationship between satirical writing and society.
Class Hour: 10.00 am - 12.00 noon Thursday.
Teaching: 1 x 2-hour seminar per week.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 60%, 2-hour Examination = 40%

LT4214 Latin Philosophical Writing
Credits: 30  Semester: 2
Availability: 2012-13
Description: This module will explore a tradition of philosophy which has often been considered 'secondary' or 'derivative', namely the writing of philosophical works in Latin. This module aims to evaluate Latin philosophical writing in its own right. Taken as a whole, the Latin philosophical corpus present an impressive record of cultural assimilation and innovation. We shall see how, from the Late Republic onwards, Roman philosophy engages with debates current in the Hellenistic philosophical schools, Romanising them in the process, and placing them in the context of world order under the Roman empire.
Class Hour: To be arranged.
Teaching: 2 hours per week.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 60%, 2-hour Examination = 40%

LT4215 Senecan Tragedy
Credits: 30  Semester: 1
Availability: 2012-13
Description: This module will explore in Latin and translation a selection of Senecan Tragedy, the 'dark side' of Seneca the Younger's literary output. It will focus in particular on three classic 'anti-heroes': the Atreus of Seneca's Thyestes, the eponymous Medea, and the tyrannical Nero of the pseudo-Senecan Octavia. The module will examine the influence of Greek and Roman tragic and epic antecedents, set the 'nefarious' poetics of Senecan drama in and against the context of Seneca's philosophical writings, and consider the political resonances of this Neronian literature. Through study of the Octavia, we will explore the cultural impact of Seneca's tragedies and examine the potent 'afterlife' of Senecan drama in revenge tragedy more generally.
Class Hour: To be arranged
Teaching: 2 hours per week.
Assessment: Continuous Assessment = 60%, 2-hour Examination = 40%
