1. Statement

- 1.1 The University recognises that, from time to time, employees may have problems or concerns regarding their work or relationships with colleagues which they wish to raise and have addressed. The University seeks to resolve such issues informally in the first instance. A formal grievance should only be invoked if no informal resolution has been found.
- 1.2 If more than one employee wishes to raise the same concerns, and the employees feel that it can be dealt with collectively, the same procedure will be followed as for individual grievances. Issues raised that fall under the collective bargaining process should be raised by the relevant Trade Union via the Joint Negotiating Committee (JNC).
- 1.3 In the case of anonymous reports where investigation may not be possible or feasible, systemic options/campaigns will be considered where appropriate.
- 1.4 This policy has been updated in line with the ACAS Code of Practice on disciplinary & grievance procedures \(March 2015\).

2. Purpose

- 2.1 This policy sets out the framework for raising, addressing and resolving concerns without unreasonable delay.
- 2.2 If a complaint or concern relates to bullying, harassment, discrimination or victimisation, please refer to the Dignity and respect at work policy. If a complaint relates to gender-based violence or sexual misconduct, please refer to the Gender-Based Violence \(including sexual misconduct\) policy.
- 2.3 Any complaint investigated that amounts to misconduct may lead to action taken under the Disciplinary procedure.

3. Scope

3.1 University employees

- 3.1.1 This policy applies to all University employees who are currently employed at the University. Employees should report any matters following the reporting options outlined in this policy.
- 3.1.2 If an employee has a complaint regarding a student, the employee should raise the matter using Report & Support or, if preferred, contact the University Discipline Officer directly (discipline@st-andrews.ac.uk).

3.2 Other members of the University community

- 3.2.1 Other members of the University community who are not employees (bank workers, agency workers, other casual workers, honorary staff, visiting fellows, scholars and any third party engaged to work at the University) should report their concerns using Report & Support or, if preferred, directly to their Head of School/Unit or Human Resources.
- 3.2.2 Any external party who has a complaint should raise the matter via the University's Complaints Handling Procedure \(CHP\).

- 3.2.3 Student should raise complaints using Report & Support or, if preferred, contact Student Services directly (theasc@st-andrews.ac.uk).
- 3.2.4 Any complaint received regarding an employee will be passed to HR to investigate accordingly.
- 3.2.5 If a complaint relates to a worker supplied by an external agency, supplier, auditor or any third-party company, the University will transfer the matter to the agency/company to manage on behalf of the University. It will be the responsibility of Human Resources (HR), to notify the external agency/company of the complaint and ensure appropriate support is provided to the employee who has disclosed the matter. It will be the responsibility of that agency/company to investigate and conclude matters as appropriate in line with their existing policies. Depending on the outcome, the University reserves the right not to engage the services of that individual or company again.

4. How to report a complaint

4.1 Informal resolution

- 4.1.1 Every effort should be made to resolve grievances informally at School or Unit level before progressing formally, particularly when the grievance is in relation to a fellow employee.
- 4.1.2 It is expected that employees will raise their concerns informally with their line manager in the first instance. If the complaint is regarding their immediate line manager, the complaint should be raised with the manager above the line manager.
- 4.1.3 The line manager (or appropriate other) will discuss the employee's concerns in confidence and undertake the necessary enquiries in order to address the issue. The line manager (or appropriate other) will also attempt to identify possible resolutions with the employee. If the grievance is against another employee, the line manager may, after a discussion with both, bring together both parties to facilitate a discussion and resolution or recommend referral to the University's mediation service.
- 4.1.4 It is the line manager's responsibility to seek prompt and informal resolution where possible and update the employee, providing a summary note or email of the outcome.
- 4.1.5 If the inappropriate/unwanted behaviour continues after informal measures have been taken, or the employee feels it cannot be resolved informally, the employee may want to consider partaking in mediation and/or raising a formal complaint.

4.2 Mediation

4.2.1 Purpose of mediation

- Mediation is an important consideration for resolving issues at an early stage. It is a voluntary process where an impartial third party enables two or more people to work through conflict or disagreement, with a view to finding a mutually agreeable solution.
- Sometimes certain behaviours can be perceived as discrimination, harassment or bullying, when that is not how they were intended. Mediation can be a good way to help see the other person's perspective and help the other side see how their behaviour is impacting others.

- The Resolution policy provides further information about mediation and the mediation process.

4.2.2 How to arrange mediation

- Mediation can only take place when all parties are willing to mediate. The University may recommend mediation in responding to informal and formal approaches.
- Employees and students can contact the in-house mediation service by email mediation@st-andrews.ac.uk. The service will arrange a time to discuss if mediation is suitable. Employees can also be referred to the service by their line manager or HR. Students can be referred by employees in academic schools or by Student Services or other professional units in the University. Members of the Public may be referred by the Complaints Handling Procedure or by other units or schools within the University.

4.3 Formal resolution

4.3.1 There are several ways to formally report a complaint to the University. These are listed below in sections 4.3.3 and 4.3.4.

4.3.2 A formal grievance/complaint must usually be made within three months of attempted informal resolution and certainly without unreasonable delay.

4.3.3 Report & Support

- Report and support is an online reporting tool which allows anyone to report matters which are deemed to be unacceptable.
- Reports can be submitted with contact details (identifiable) or anonymously (unidentifiable).
- To make a report, or for further details visit the Report & Support webpage.

4.3.3.1 Reporting openly to an appropriate adviser (recommended)

- Reporting with contact details (openly) through the Report & Support system provides the employee with the opportunity to disclose personal details about themselves, the incident and, the reported perpetrator (if applicable).
- It allows University staff (“an appropriate adviser”), such as HR, Student Services or the Student Conduct Officer, experienced in managing complaints, the ability to respond to the person who raised the report, discuss support options and, if necessary, take appropriate action, such as investigation to seek a resolution.
- The University encourages employees, wherever possible, to disclose incidents openly to ensure that appropriate support and action can be taken.

4.3.3.2 Anonymous reporting

- Employees can choose to report matters anonymously to the University if they feel that it is appropriate in their circumstances.
- Anonymous reporting provides the University with statistical information, which is used to identify and monitor trends of any issues that arise at the University.
- It is important to note that the University will not be able to offer direct support and advice to the employee if an anonymous report is received however employees are still encouraged to access appropriate support services as listed on the Report & Support webpage.

- The University will not normally act upon anonymous reports, notably where there is insufficient information to advance a fair and thorough investigation. However, there may be circumstances, including if the reported perpetrator has been named anonymously in one or more instances, where it will be necessary for the University to assess whether further action can be taken, as part of the University's obligations to provide a duty of care, to all parties who may be affected. Further action may include one or more of the following: risk assessment, advising staff where concerns about their behaviour have been raised, and/or assessing the matters raised under formal procedures.

4.3.4 Report directly (outwith the Report & Support system)

4.3.4.1 If preferred, the employee may submit a formal grievance in line with the University's Grievance policy. Employees are encouraged to use the formal grievance template to structure their complaint.

4.3.4.2 The grievance should be addressed to the employee's line manager (or the person who dealt with the issue informally if different) and copied to the Director of HR. If the complaint relates to the line manager, it should be addressed to the line manager's manager.

4.3.4.3 The grievance should:

- State clearly that the grievance procedure is being invoked;
- Contain a brief description of the reasons for the complaint, including relevant facts, dates, and names of individuals involved;
- Indicate what steps have been taken to try and resolve the grievance informally; and
- Indicate what outcome is being sought as a result of raising this grievance.

5. What to expect after a complaint is made to the University

5.1 Setting up a grievance meeting

5.1.1 Once a formal complaint has been received, (whether via Report & Support or using the formal grievance template), the following steps will occur:

1. The Director of HR (or appropriate delegate) will pass the grievance to a member of Human Resources (HR) to progress.
2. HR will send an acknowledgement email within 3 working days to confirm the complaint has been received and action will be taken.
3. HR will arrange for an appropriate person to manage/hear the grievance. This person will be the grievance manager and will have no conflict of interest and had no prior involvement in the case. Usually, they will be a senior member of staff of the School/Unit in which the employee works however there may be circumstances when there will be a requirement to request that someone from another School or Unit acts as grievance manager. This will be at the discretion of the Director of HR.
4. Depending on the level of detail provided on the initial report via Report & Support, the employee may be required to submit further details using the grievance template however this will vary from case to case and will be confirmed to the employee by the grievance manager or HR.

5. If the grievance relates to another employee, that employee will be given a copy of the complaint in order that they can prepare a response.
6. The meeting will be convened by sending an invitation to the employee. The invitation letter will be sent by HR which will detail the date, time and location of the meeting.
7. The meeting will be held with the employee as soon as possible; however, employees should be aware that it can be a time-consuming process to arrange for a grievance manager to manage/hear the grievance. In addition, a grievance manager may choose to carry out an investigation of any allegations made before the formal grievance meeting takes place. In this instance, employees will be informed of this in advance. Section 5.3 provides further information on the grievance investigation.

5.2 The Grievance meeting

- 5.2.1 A member of HR will be present at all formal grievance meetings and appeals to provide professional advice on the operation and application of this policy and ensure consistency of practice.
- 5.2.2 Employees are entitled to be accompanied at any formal grievance meeting by either a trade union representative or a work colleague. Neither party involved in the grievance nor the University will have legal representation present at any University grievance related meeting.
- 5.2.3 At the meeting, the employee will be asked to explain their grievance and explore the suggested resolutions.
- 5.2.4 It is not the University's policy to allow audio or visual recording of meetings. Please see Guidelines on Recording of Meetings involving University Staff and Students. Instead, notes will be taken which will summarise the key points. They are not intended to be a verbatim record.
- 5.2.5 Where the employee who has raised the grievance fails to attend a meeting without good reason, a decision may be taken in their absence based on the evidence provided, or the grievance may be treated as being abandoned.

5.3 Investigation

- 5.3.1 The amount of investigation required will depend on the nature of the allegations and will vary from case to case. There may be situations where the grievance manager will be required to meet with others as well as the person who raised the complaint to gather details of the case (e.g. the subject of the complaint, any witnesses to the complaint cited in the grievance).
- 5.3.2 All members of the University community are required to participate and cooperate with any investigation matter that they may be involved in or witnessed. Anyone who unreasonably refuses to obey a request to participate in an investigation without a legitimate reason in doing so may be subject to disciplinary action being taken against them.
- 5.3.3 The University reserves the right to transfer the issue to a different policy either during or after an investigation should there be sufficient evidence to support this and it is deemed appropriate to do so. This will only be undertaken on the advice of HR.

5.4 Key information

- 5.4.1 Where the grievance is related to existing conditions of employment or an established working practice, in the interest of good employee relations, no alteration will be made to the existing conditions of employment or the established working practice which gives rise to the grievance until the matter has been resolved, unless business continuity dictates the alteration necessary.
- 5.4.2 The University will maintain the right of academic staff to exercise their Academic Freedom as that term is understood in accordance with the legislation, ordinances and resolutions affecting the University. The right of Academic Freedom must be balanced by the obligation to use that freedom responsibly and professionally and respecting other rights which staff enjoy.
- 5.4.3 If there is a demonstrable and appropriate need to vary proceedings, the grievance manager should seek approval from HR.

5.5 The outcome

- 5.5.1 The employee will be notified of the outcome of their grievance in writing, without unreasonable delay. The outcome letter will confirm:
- The outcome of the grievance including rationale;
 - Any actions the University intends to take upon completion of the grievance (e.g. invoking the Disciplinary procedure);
 - The employee's right to appeal the decision.
 - The employee will not be informed of the outcome of any action taken against a fellow employee as a result of this grievance.
- 5.5.2 If the grievance relates to another employee, that employee will also be informed of the grievance outcome and of any actions relating to them. The outcome of any further process will not be shared with the complainant, the grievance manager, or any other party involved in the grievance process (e.g. witnesses) in order to protect confidentiality.
- 5.5.3 An employee should not suffer any victimisation or reprisal as a result of bringing a grievance regardless of the outcome. Any such victimisation or reprisal would be a matter for disciplinary investigation. However, if, after any stage of this grievance process has been concluded, it is the view of the Director of HR or the grievance manager that a complaint had no merit, the grievance may be rejected. If the complaint is deemed to be vexatious then this may form the basis for disciplinary action to be taken against the employee.

5.6 Withdrawing a grievance

- 5.6.1 If, at any time, the employee wishes to withdraw their lodged grievance, they must make their intentions known, in writing, to the grievance manager or the HR person dealing with the grievance. The University reserves the right to investigate the original complaint if it is considered prudent to do so, even if the employee withdraws the grievance.

6. Right of appeal

- 6.1 The employee making the complaint has the right to appeal against the decision if they are not content with the action taken or if they feel their grievance has not been satisfactorily resolved. The written appeal should clearly confirm the grounds for the appeal i.e. reasons for why the employee is dissatisfied with the outcome of the formal stage of the procedure.

- 6.2 A request for an appeal must be lodged, in writing, within 10 working days* of the employee being notified of the decision i.e. the date on the outcome letter and be addressed to the Director of HR.
- 6.3 The appeal will be acknowledged and passed to a member of HR to progress.
- 6.4 HR will arrange for an appropriate person to manage/hear the appeal. This person will be the appeal manager and will have no conflict of interest and have had no prior involvement in the case. The appeal manager will review the circumstances and respond with an outcome based on the findings.
- 6.5 The appeal hearing will be held with the employee as soon as possible; however, employees should be aware that it can be a time-consuming process to arrange for an appeal manager to manage/hear the appeal. The meeting will be convened by sending an invitation to the employee. The invitation letter will be sent by HR who will detail the date, time and location of the meeting.
- 6.6 The appeal manager will receive the original grievance, outcome letter and the appeal letter. The grievance manager will be invited to the appeal hearing to present their rationale for the decision.
- 6.7 The employee will be invited to attend the appeal hearing to explain the reasons for their appeal and why they are not content with the outcome. The appeal manager may carry out further investigation after the appeal hearing based on what was discussed. The employee will be informed if any further investigation is required.
- 6.8 The employee will be notified of the outcome of their appeal in writing, without unreasonable delay, normally within 10 working days* of the appeal hearing, unless further investigation is required. The decision following appeal is final and there will be no further internal right of appeal.

7. Confidentiality

- 7.1 The University aims to keep information confidential to the maximum extent possible. Confidentiality will be maintained as far as reasonably possible and information will only be shared with others on a need to know basis. There will however be information that is required to be shared. For instance:
 - The complainant's identity and the nature of the allegations must be revealed to the person causing the offence so they can appropriately respond to the allegations;
 - Some details may have to be provided to potential witnesses (if applicable). However, the importance of confidentiality will be emphasised to all witnesses and, if breached, may result in disciplinary action;
 - Line managers may need to be provided with information if, for instance, employees are recommended to move departments/roles as part of the outcome into the grievance.
- 7.2 All employees have a duty to maintain a safe and equitable workplace. As such, any report that raises a concern for the safety of any member of the University community or others may require police or external authority intervention. The University will not usually report the matter to the police or other external authorities without employee consent; however, in exceptional circumstances, the University may exercise the right to pass information on. The grievance manager must document reasons for their decision to share this information, and inform the person who disclosed the matter of the reason why confidentiality cannot be contained and of the steps that will be taken upon reporting to the police (or other external authority).

8. Support

8.1 The University recognises that being involved in a grievance procedure will be difficult for all parties concerned and is committed to providing support and assistance for employees in these circumstances. Appendix B provides a list of support contacts available to employees.

9. Version control

9.1 This policy will be reviewed regularly. Any feedback on the policy content should be directed in the first instance to the HRBP team, who will consider this as part of the review.

9.2 This policy is not contractual and may be amended by the University from time to time.

Appendix A: Formal Grievance Template

Please note: A word version of this form can be downloaded from the HR policy page or via the following link.

Name of person raising complaint:
Employee Number (if known):
Preferred pronouns:
School/Unit:
Job title:
Date of report:

1. Provide a brief summary of events leading up to your complaint.

This should include details of any informal steps taken to address the issue.

2. Details of the complaint.

Provide full details of the grievance, including dates and times of any incidents. This section should contain all relevant facts and circumstances that will enable the grievance to be investigated fully. This section should be clear and concise so the person hearing the grievance can articulate the key concerns. If there are several elements to your complaint, you should use separate headings to address these points.

3. Do you have any evidence or documentation to support your grievance submission?

Yes	<input type="checkbox"/>
No	<input type="checkbox"/>

If yes, please refer to these in section 2 and attach these with your complaint submission.

4. Resolution.

Please detail how you feel your complaint can be resolved? What outcomes are you looking for?

Once complete, this document should be submitted to your line manager (or the person who dealt with the issue informally if different) and to the Director of HR. If the complaint relates to your line manager, it should be sent to your line manager's manager.
